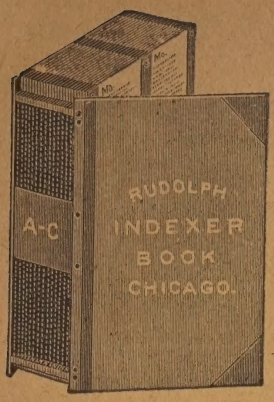
The Rudolph Indexer Book.



(Patented in the United States and all Foreign Countries.)

Method of Indexing is the same as that employed in the Rudolph Continuous Indexer.

The RUDOLPH INDEXER BOOK consists of a number of card-holders of heavy cardboard with one or two columns on both sides. On the back edge of each card-holder are two double hinges by which means other card-holders may be flexibly connected or disconnected.

Independent book-covers are furnished, and a book may thus be formed of one card-holder and later increased as desired. If the book becomes too bulky it may be separated and by adding covers two or more independent books formed.

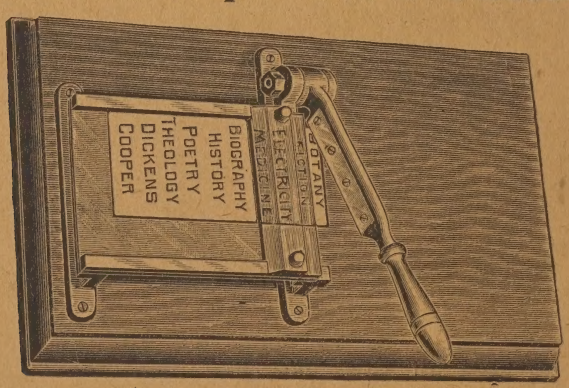
The Rudolph Card Cutter.



(Patent Pending.)

This invention is for the purpose of cutting the entries or cards for insertion in the card-holders, but can also be used for many other purposes.

It is very important that all the slips to be inserted in the card-holders be cut at perfect right angles, in order that each entry will fit exactly to the others.

An unnecessary margin of only 1-32d of an inch on the top and 1-32d of an inch on the bottom of each entry will amount to 3⅛th inches of waste space on each card-holder.

The cutter will cut cardboard where spacing between the printed or written lines is 1-64th of an inch.

EXPLANATIONS.

A consecutive paging being impossible in catalogues supplied by so many different houses, a practical device has been adopted, by which is given, in the index, the actual paging which each list would have, had the volume been printed as one book and paged consecutively. The paging is as correct as it was possible to make it.

For the body of the work, from pages 99 to 3500, printed sheets were supplied by the contributors, and are arranged alphabetically by the firm-name. If these pages are renum'ered, making at least sure that the paging of the first page of each list accurat.ly corresponds with that given in the index (a small job for a blank-book maker with a paging machine, or for any one with a b.ue pencil at unemployed time), it will add to the convenience of the volume for reference, and will amply repay for the trouble. The renumbering should not be continued beyond page 3500, as the supplementary pages were numbered and printed before all the lists were received, and were therefore begun with 3501, a figure easily remembered and not likely to be exceeded by the preceding matter.

☞ Booksellers and librarians who may be annoyed and inconvenienced by the unexpected absence of certain lists must not hold this office responsible. All that could be done in the way of argument has been done, and there is no publisher known to this office who has not been addressed several times on his own behalf as well as in the interest of the trade and the "Annual." Nor would it be proper for us to make explanations that the absentee alone can give satisfactorily.

The index record of new books (by author, title, and subject) for the year 1892, immediately preceding the record here included, will be found, as well as full titles and descriptive notes, in the ANNUAL CATALOGUE FOR 1892, published by the office of The Publishers' Weekly at $3.50 half leather, $3.00 in sheets.

THE

AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE FOR 1893.

[PUBLISHERS' PRICES.]

NOTICE.—In this Catalogue only prices made by publishers themselves are given—retail, if retail, in first column; "net" (wholesale), if "net," in second column; where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk (*), in addition to the wholesale price. When price-columns are left blank, the publisher failed, on application, to furnish price. A double asterisk () in price-columns designates books forthcoming. New books, issued since the publication of the Catalogue of 1892, are designated by a single asterisk () before title.*

☞ In comparing prices or ordering at retail, private buyers should bear in mind that a percentage must be added to prices quoted at wholesale, to cover freight, handling, delivering, etc. Discounts on quantities vary on different lines, according to the kind of prices adopted by the respective publishers.

For subject classification (and for collective references to classic authors entered here under separate editors), see the second part of the Catalogue, following this main alphabet.

TO THE TRADE.

For some time past the Book Trade has felt and expressed the want of a line of Bibles divested of the many objectionable features in the way of flashy pictures and inappropriate engravings which at intervals have crept into the Sacred Volume, much to the disgust of the Bible-reading community; and, with this fact in view, we present to the trade an entire new line of Family and Pulpit Bibles, which for chasteness of engravings and beauty of letter-press and binding far exceeds any that has as yet been offered to the public.

In selecting the engravings and the collateral matter, great care has been exercised, that nothing should appear in these editions of the Bible that would offend the most fastidious mind; and, whilst they are offered at lower prices than any others heretofore published, the highest standard of finish, together with a uniform quality of paper, engravings, letter-press and binding, will be scrupulously maintained.

In offering this new line of Family and Pulpit Bibles, the Publisher desires to state that neither expense nor pains have been spared to make it the cheapest, the handsomest and the best ever offered to the American Book Trade.

The electrotype plates are the newest made, being cast from large, open letter, and the Bibles themselves are printed on fine white paper made expressly for these editions. The stamps, dies, tools, etc., are entirely new and original, and have been designed and executed by the best artists. The bindings are Ornate and London Antique, in French, German and Turkey moroccos, with cloth joints and laced in boards.

☞ Special attention is directed to our New Royal Quarto and New Imperial Quarto Oxford Editions, the first impressions from entirely new plates, cast from clear open type in London, expressly for our House. These editions are superior to any other Family or Pulpit Bibles published in the United States. They will be found fully described under the head of New Royal Quarto Edition, embracing Nos. 150 to 162, and* New Imperial Quarto Edition, embracing Nos. 250 to 255 and A to I*.*

Our manufactory, besides being one of the most completely equipped in the country, possesses all the modern machinery and other appliances for producing superior work, and none but the best skilled workmen are or will be employed in any branch. Ample facilities are provided to enable us to fill all orders with care and promptness.

Our superb line of high-class publications, illustrated, are pronounced by the most capable critics in the trade to be superior in the following essential qualities: Large, Clear, Open Type; New and Unworn Plates; Superior Full-Page Engravings; Artistic and Uniform Printing; Fine Sized and Calendered Paper; Beautiful and Durable Bindings; Prices as low as consistent with first-class workmanship and best materials.

PSALM III.

The security of God's protection.

¶ A Psalm of David, *when he fled from Absalom his son.

LORD, [a]how are they increased that trouble me? many are they that rise up against me.

2 Many there be which say of my soul, [b]There is no help for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou, O LORD, art [c]a shield ‖for me; my glory, and [d]the lifter up of mine head.

4 I cried unto the LORD with my voice, and [e]he heard me out of his [f]holy hill. Selah.

5 [g]I laid me down and slept; I awaked; for the LORD sustained me.

6 [h]I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about.

7 Arise, O LORD; save me, O my God; [i]for thou hast smitten all mine enemies upon the cheek-bone; thou hast broken the teeth of the ungodly.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the PHILIPPIANS.

I. Paul and Timothy, [a]servants of Christ Jesus, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the [b]bishops and deacons: [2]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I thank my God upon all my remembrance of you, [4]always in every supplication of mine on behalf of you all making my supplication with joy, [5]for your fellowship in furtherance of the gospel from the first day until now; [6]being confident of this very thing, that he which began a good work in you will perfect it until the day of Jesus Christ: [7]even as it is right for me to be thus minded on behalf of you all, because [c]I have you in my heart, inasmuch as, both in my bonds and in the defence and confirmation of the gospel, ye all are partakers with me of grace. [8]For God is my witness, how I long after you all in the tender mercies of Christ Jesus. [9]And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment; [10]so that ye may [d]approve the things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and void of offence unto the day of Christ; [11]being filled with the [e]fruits of righteousness, which are through Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God.

12 Now I would have you know, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the progress of the gospel; [13]so that my thinking to raise up affliction for me in my bonds. [18]What then? only that in every way, whether in pretence or in truth, Christ is proclaimed; and therein I rejoice, yea, and will rejoice. [19]For I know that this shall turn to my salvation, through your supplication and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ, [20]according to my earnest expectation and hope, that in nothing shall I be put to shame, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether by life, or by death. [21]For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain. [22][h]But if to live in the flesh,—if this is the fruit of my work, then [i]what I shall choose [j]I wot not. [23]But I am in a strait betwixt the two, having the desire to depart and be with Christ; for it is very far better: [24]yet to abide in the flesh is more needful for your sake. [25]And having this confidence, I know that I shall abide, yea, and abide with you all, for your progress and joy [k]in the faith; [26]that your glorying may abound in Christ Jesus in me through my presence with you again. [27]Only [l]let your manner of life be worthy of the gospel of Christ: that, whether I come and see you or be absent, I may hear of your state, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one soul striving [m]for the faith of the gospel: [28]and in nothing affrighted by the adversaries: which is for them an evident token of perdition, but of your salvation, and that from God; [29]because to you it hath been granted

PSALMS I.—V.

PSALM I.

1 THAT man hath perfect blessedness
who walketh not astray
In counsel of ungodly men,
nor stands in sinners' way,
Nor sitteth in the scorner's chair:
2 But placeth his delight
Upon God's law, and meditates on his law day and night.

3 He shall be like a tree that grows
near planted by a river,
Which in his season yields his fruit,
and his leaf fadeth never:
And all he doth shall prosper well.
4 The wicked are not so;
But like they are unto the chaff,
which wind drives to and fro.

5 In judgment therefore shall not stand such as ungodly are;
Nor in th' assembly of the just shall wicked men appear.
6 For why? the way of godly men
unto the Lord is known:
Whereas the way of wicked men shall quite be overthrown.

3 Let us asunder break their bands,
8 Ask of me, and for heritage
the heathen I'll make thine;
And, for possession, I to thee will give earth's utmost line.

9 Thou shalt, as with a weighty rod of iron, break them all;
And, as a potter's sherd, thou shalt them dash in pieces small.
10 Now therefore, kings, be wise; be ye judges of the earth: [taught,
11 Serve God in fear, and see that ye join trembling with your mirth.

12 Kiss ye the Son, lest in his ire
ye perish from the way,
If once his wrath begin to burn:
bless'd all that on him stay.

PSALM III.

1 O LORD, how are my foes increas'd?
against me many rise.
2 Many say of my soul, For him
in God no succour lies.
3 Yet thou my shield and glory art,
th' uplifter of mine head.
4 I cry'd, and, from his holy hill,
the Lord me answer made.

5 I laid me down and slept, I wak'd;
for God sustained me.
6 I will not fear though thousands ten set round against me be.
7 Arise, O Lord; save me, my God;
for thou my foes hast stroke
All on the cheek-bone, and the teeth
How long my glory turn to shame,
and will ye follow lies?

3 But know, that for himself the Lord
the godly man doth chuse:
The Lord, when I on him do call,
to hear will not refuse.
4 Fear, and sin not; talk with your heart
on bed, and silent be.
5 Off'rings present of righteousness,
and in the Lord trust ye.

6 O who will shew us any good?
is that which many say:
But of thy countenance the light,
Lord, lift on us alway.
7 Upon my heart, bestow'd by thee,
more gladness I have found
Than they, ev'n then, when corn and did most with them abound. [wine

8 I will both lay me down in peace.
and quiet sleep will take;
Because thou only me to dwell
in safety, Lord, dost make.

PSALM V.

1 GIVE ear unto my words, O Lord,
my meditation weigh.
2 Hear my loud cry, my King, my God;
for I to thee will pray.
3 Lord, thou shalt early hear my voice:
I early will direct
My pray'r to thee; and, looking up,
an answer will expect.

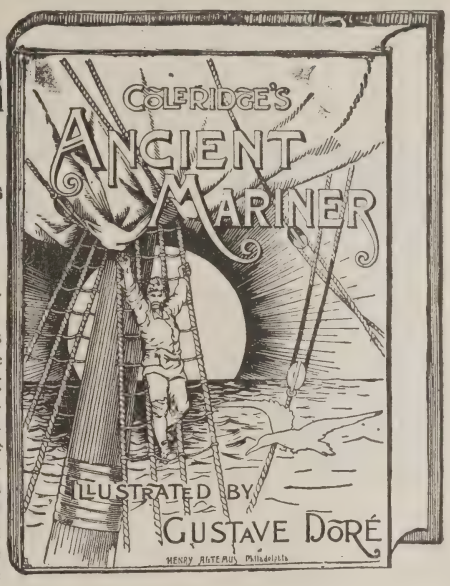
THE RIME of the ANCIENT MARINER



By SAMUEL TAYLOR COLERIDGE.

Embellished with Forty-Six Full-page Engravings
By the Renowned Artist

GUSTAVE DORÉ.

Edited by HENRY C. WALSH, A. M.

By a few vivid touches the OLD MARINER, with his skinny hand and glittering eye, is made to stand before us, and holds us breathless with the recital of his thrilling story. We cannot let him go until we have heard it all. Our amazement increases as we are given wonderful glimpses of the Spirit-land—pictures colored with the weird and awe-inspiring light of another world; the shooting of the albatross (the incident on which the story is founded); the lurid, blistering, calm that afterwards fell on the sea; the skeleton ship; the lonely Mariner amid the corpses of his mates; the serpents of the deep; the coming of the storm, and the final deliverance of the Mariner from his doom.

By GUSTAVE DORÉ,
The Renowned French Artist.

In these poems, the finest qualities of Tennyson's genious appear. He allies living grace and beauty with the loveliness of inanimate nature and infuses the old legends with a spirit and pathos that appeal to our intellect and feelings. A recent writer has well observed that Tennyson, in these poems, has "put a soul into what had been a shapeless mass of incidents of combats and armor."

PHILADELPHIA,

THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

The American Academy of Political and Social Science was formed in Philadelphia, December 14, 1889, for the purpose of promoting the Political and Social Sciences.

While it does not exclude any portion of the field indicated in its title, yet its chief object is the development of those aspects of the Political and Social Sciences which are either entirely omitted from the programs of other societies, or which do not at present receive the attention they deserve.

Among such subjects may be mentioned: Sociology, Comparative Constitutional and Administrative Law, Philosophy of the State, and such portions of the field of Politics, including Finance and Banking, as are not adequately cultivated by existing organizations.

A special effort will be made to collect and publish material which will be of use to students, and which does not now reach the public in any systematic way, as, for example, the texts in English of the Constitutions of leading foreign countries; regular accounts of current instruction in Political and Social topics at home and abroad; descriptive bibliographies; discussions of Municipal Government, etc.

It will be seen that the Academy thus supplements the efforts of existing societies of similar aims, and substantially strengthens their work by contributing its share to beget a deeper and more widespread interest in the general subject of Political and Social Science.

The plan of the Academy includes regular scientific meetings for the presentation of papers and communications, establishment of a library, and the dissemination of knowledge on Political and Social topics through its publications and by such other means as may seem suitable.

During the winter regular monthly meetings have been held since the Academy was formed at which the papers submitted have been read and discussed.

To carry on the work of the Academy satisfactorily, large funds are necessary. The income of the Academy at present is derived from the Annual Membership Fee, which is $5.00; the Life Membership Fee, which is $100; and from the contributions of those who may be willing to assist in its work. It is desired to secure the establishment of prizes and fellowships.

Anyone may become a member on being approved by the Council and paying the Annual or Life Membership Fee. Members are entitled to receive the regular publications of the Academy, submit papers and communications, and to attend and take part in all scientific meetings. Life members are exempt from all annual fees.

The list of members now includes the names of nearly all the prominent thinkers and writers on Political, Economic and Social topics in the United States and Canada, and many in Europe.

The co-operation of all persons interested in the scientific investigation of Political and Social affairs is earnestly solicited.

The proceedings of the Academy are published in the form of a periodical called the ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE, which, together with such other matter as may be published for that purpose, is sent to all members of the Academy free of charge. A copy of the current number of the ANNALS will be sent to anyone for examination.

Papers and communications which the writers wish to submit to the Academy with a view to their being read in a Scientific Session and subsequently published in the Proceedings, as well as applications for membership, should be sent to the following address:

American Academy of Political and Social Science,

STATION B, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

N. B.—Fees and contributions may be remitted by postal order on Philadelphia, or by draft on New York, drawn to the order of the Treasurer, Mr. Stuart Wood, 400 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

TITLES AND AUTHORS.

Alcohol Question in Switzerland. MILLIET, HON. W., Bern, Switzerland. Price, 15 cents.

The author has long been identified with the temperance movement in Switzerland. The paper shows what has been done in that country toward preventing the misuse of intoxicating drinks. This effort has not been along the lines of prohibition, owing to the openly hostile attitude of public opinion to so radical a measure, but rather in the way of substituting wine and beer for strong drinks and in the improvement in quality of the latter.

American Banking and the Money Supply of the Future. HARTER, HON. M. D., Congressman from Mansfield, O. Price, 15 cents.

A sketch of American Banking History, together with an outlook into the banking future, and followed by a plan for re-organizing the national banking system.

An explanation of a plan for re-organizing the banking system of the United States.

Basis of the Demand for the Public Regulation of Industries. DABNEY, HON. W. D. Price, 25 cents.

The author explains why a large and increasing number of conservative persons are urging stringent public regulation of many industries, as a remedy for the evils of private monopolies.

Basis of Interest. LOWREY, DWIGHT M., ESQ. Price, 25 cents.

A criticism of Henry George's Theory of Interest. Mr. Lowrey takes up Mr. George's argument in defence of interest and, point by point, shows that if his theory of rent be true, his theory of interest must be false.

Basis of Security for National Bank Notes. BACON, HON. HENRY, formerly Congressman from Goshen, N. Y. Price, 15 cents.

A plan for perpetuating the national bank-note system, by permitting notes to be issued, after national, State, county or municipal bonds have been deposited as security.

Cabinet Government in the United States. SNOW, DR. FREEMAN, Instructor in International Law in Harvard University. Price, 15 cents.

It is a reply to the arguments which have been advanced by certain writers in favor of adopting in the United States a form of Cabinet Government as known abroad. Such Government would be not only unconstitutional, but also, as Dr. Snow proves, highly undesirable. In this paper he points out the leading objections to the English form of government.

To trust to accident is, however, a dangerous way, as Mr. Kinley says, "it would be unscientific and dangerous to rely on mere contingencies for the prevention of financial evils, if we can see the defects in our system and provide a remedy."

Neglected Points in the Theory of Socialism. VEBLEN, T. B., Ph. D., University of Chicago. Price, 25 cents.

The work is a criticism of Mr. Spencer's essay, "From Freedom to Bondage." The author shows how, under our present system, there is a constant effort even at the expense of real physical comforts and even necessities to make a greater display of one's ability to pay, than one's neighbor's. This "Economic Emulation" he regards as the chief underlying cause of the present socialistic agitation. The doing away with private property as we know it would perhaps direct our emulation into more desirable channels. Mr. Veblen further makes a comparison between the introduction of constitutional government and the possible nationalization of industry.

Party Government. RICHARDSON, CHARLES. Price, 25 cents.

The principal evil of party government, according to Mr. Richardson's views, is the permitting of political parties to nominate candidates for office. For, as he shows, these candidates are almost invariably men who, if elected, will obey the dictates of the bosses rather than the voice of the people. As a remedy for this he suggests that the Australian system, as used in Australia, be adopted, and all candidates be nominated by papers signed by a specified number of qualified voters.

A treatise on the philosophy of party; a subject which has been generally neglected by political scientists. After showing by what other means the State has sought to hold the government in due subordination to itself, he proves that the institution of party is the best device for accomplishing this end. He shows how party carries out its two chief functions, namely, to educate and organize public opinion, and to administer government.

Political Organization of a Modern Municipality. LEWIS, WM. DRAPER, Ph. D., Instructor in Political Economy at Haverford College. Price 15 cents.

The main thought in the pamphlet is that the only way to improve city politics is to separate them from national politics. A city, Dr. Lewis claims, is in reality a State by itself, that is, in many respects it has questions to settle which are vital to its existence and which are of interest to it alone. In the settlement of these questions, therefore, national parties should have no voice. Just as there are national parties to settle national questions, so there should be local parties to settle purely local questions.

Preventive Legislation in Relation to Crime. REEVE, C. H. Price 15 cents.

Mr. Reeve shows how great has been the increase, not only in crime, but also in the savagery attendant upon the commission of crime, as well as in the reckless boldness displayed by criminals. To remedy this he advocates the removal of the source from which the criminal comes by preventing marriages between those who are unfit for the relation, and by removing the children of criminals, etc., from their parents. For such as are now criminals he advocates imprisonment with no right to return to freedom until a complete reformation has taken place.

The former is the prevailing system of the schools as taught under varying aspects by the Physiocrats, Adam Smith, Ricardo and Malthus. Its underlying principles are set forth in the writings of Herbert Spencer, and constitute the warp of modern individualism. The latter has, from time to time, been dimly foreshadowed by certain writers, but has never taken any scientific form except in a work by Mr. Ward.

The monograph shows what influence the law forbidding the entail of property, which was a part of the code Napoléon had in starting a revolution in Europe in regard to land tenures. This movement toward the individualistic conception of land was very steady up to 1870. Since then there has been a reaction away from individualism, and we are coming to recognize that land is not like other property, but has intrinsic peculiarities which necessitate a certain degree of communistic control.

Theory of Final Utility in its Relation to Money and the Standard of Deferred Payments. MERRIAM, L. S., Ph. D. Price, 25 cents.

Consists of a study of the relation of the theory of final utility to money in general and the standard of deferred payments in particular, followed by a criticism of Professor Ross' paper No. 70, in the light of those results.

Theory of Value. v. WIESER, F. R. Professor of Political Economy in the German University of Prague. Price, 25 cents

This monograph contains a scientific explanation of the theory of value as held by the Austrian School, of which Professor von Wieser is one of the leaders.

Third Revolution. CHEYNEY, EDWARD P., Assistant Professor of History in the University of Pennsylvania. Price, 15 cents

The third revolution of which Professor Cheyney writes is the economic revolution. He first compares the period prior to the intellectual revolution of 400 years ago with the period just before the political revolution of 100 years ago, and shows that these periods were very similar. He then shows that the present time is in many respects similar with these periods, and from this he draws the inference that we are about to undergo a third revolution which, as he shows, will be an economic revolution.

Christ asserteth CHAPTER VI. his power.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself;
27 And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.
28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,
29 And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.
30 I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.
31 If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true.
32 ¶ There is another that beareth witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.
33 Ye sent unto John, and he bare witness unto the truth.
34 But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye might be saved.
35 He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.
36 ¶ But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.
37 And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape.
38 And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.
39 ¶ Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me.
40 And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.
41 I receive not honour from men.
42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.
43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.
44 How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?
45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.
46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he wrote of me.
47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

CHAPTER VI.

Five thousand fed.

AFTER these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.
2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.
3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.
4 And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.
5 ¶ When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?
6 And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.
7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.
8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, saith unto him, 9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?
10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.
11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

523–531 Wabash Ave., Chicago

SPECIAL NOTICE.

IN ORDERING.

All orders should be accompanied by remittances, unless purchasers desire to open an account. To open an account apply for terms and give references showing financial ability, promptness, and general responsibility. Such information should usually be furnished by a bank or by firms in large cities with whom you keep an account, and should be quite different from the friendly recommendation of an acquaintance. A confidential personal statement of your affairs is also desirable.

SHIPPING DIRECTIONS.

With every order give your name in full, with shipping directions, including county and State. If this is not the same as the post-office address, give that also. State whether the goods should be sent by mail, express, or railroad, and give the name of the railroad or express preferred.

EXACT TITLES.

In ordering use the full title as given in the list; we cannot be responsible for errors in shipping when the "revised" or "old" or "special" edition is not specified.

ORDER IN SEASON.

We aim to fill orders on the day received, but at the time for the opening of schools the pressure of business sometimes makes this impossible. A liberal allowance of time should be made for such detentions. Railroads cannot always be depended upon to carry goods with their usual regularity. You will, therefore, consult your own convenience and interest, as well as oblige us, if you will order early.

REMITTANCES.

We advise remittances by draft, money order, registered letter, or express, as may be most convenient.

THE GOSPEL OF GLADNESS, and Other Sermons. By Rev. David James Burrell, D. D. 12mo. $1 25.

"A more helpful, interesting, and stimulating book than this is rarely to be found."
BAPTIST S. S. TEACHER.

"Dr. Burrell has a happy faculty of getting at the central truth of a passage and then stating it tersely and pointedly."—CHICAGO STANDARD.

"THE MORNING COMETH." A new volume of sermons, by Dr. Burrell. Uniform with "The Gospel of Gladness," and the same price.

CLEWS TO HOLY WRIT; or a Chronological Scripture Cycle. By M. L. Petrie, B. A. 12mo.

A scheme for studying the whole Bible in its historical order.

THE CHEQUE BOOK OF THE BANK OF FAITH: Being Precious Promises arranged for daily use with brief experimental comments. By C. H. Spurgeon. 12mo. $1 50.

"His writiugs consist of condensed wisdom and spicy sayings which will always be relished by young and old. He is never dull and commonplace in a book like this. His sharp sayings are full of pith. Many of them are epigrams containing mines of truth. His association as pastor and friend with many thousands during his long and wonderful ministry gave him rare facilities for writing such a helpful book as this."
CHRISTIAN AT WORK.

THE ESSEX LAD who became England's Greatest Preacher. The life of Charles Haddon Spurgeon. By J. Manton Smith. Profusely illustrated. 12mo. 75 cts.

"It was a happy thought which led Mr. Smith, the Evangelist and close friend and former student of Mr. Spurgeon's, to prepare this narrative. We have read six or seven lives of Mr. Spurgeon, but find none more entertaining or profitable than this. Mr. Smith has done his work well."—THE STANDARD OF CHICAGO.

HINTS AND HELPS.

ON THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSONS FOR 1893.

By Rev. David James Burrell. D. D., and Rev. Joseph Dunn Burrell. 12mo. $1 25.

Notices of the previous volumes:

"The thought is inspiring, the sentences are suggestive and often truly eloquent."
GOLDEN RULE.

"Among the Lesson Helps this volume will take a high position. It is suggestive clear, strong, and comprehensive." METHODIST RECORDER.

ADAM'S DAUGHTERS. By Julia MacNair Wright. 4 illustrations. $1 50.

"Written with a depth of earnestness, a genuine attractiveness, and a wealth of sweet sisterliness which will commend itself to all readers."—INTERIOR.

ON A SNOW-BOUND TRAIN. By Julia MacNair Wright. 12mo. $1 25.

A train on the Pacific Railway is snowed in and makes but little progress for nearly a week. The passengers get restless and uneasy. Various attempts at interesting them are tried, but none succeed so well as story-telling. The narrative of the delays and disappointments is a very interesting one from which many practical lessons may be learned, and the stories themselves have all a point and a purpose that render them highly attractive.

MR. GROSVENOR'S DAUGHTER. A story of city life. By Julia MacNair Wright. 12mo. $1 50.

"So good a Sunday-school book has not appeared in many a long year. Mrs. Wright has written many interesting stories, every one with a useful purpose, but never one more interesting, never one with purpose half so practical as this. The book should be in every Sunday-school library."—N. Y. EVANGELIST.

MARY JONES AND HER BIBLE. Profusely illustrated. 50 cts.

"Not a long story, this, but one full of pathos, of a little girl in North Wales, a hundred years ago, who hoarded her pennies for six long years that she might save enough to buy a Bible, and then walked twenty-five miles in her bare feet to procure the treasure she had so long desired to own . . . . It would be well for every boy and girl in the church to read the story of Mary Jones."—TENNESSEE METHODIST.

FROM OLIVET TO PATMOS: The First Christian Century in Picture and Story. By Mrs. L. S. Houghton. 4to. Profusely illustrated.

This is a continuation of Mrs. Houghton's popular series of Bible books, of which "The Bible in Picture and Story" and "The Life of Christ in Picture and Story" have already been published. It gives the story of the apostles and the interesting history of the Christian Church in the first century, introducing an account of Epistles in the order of the history.

It forms a very entertaining narrative for either old or young, which is rendered still more attractive by numerous and excellent illustrations.

By the same author, and uniform.

THE BIBLE IN PICTTRE AND STORY. Quarto. 269 illustrations, many of them full-page. 240 pp. Cloth, $1 25; gilt extra, $1 75.

The same book in German with the same illustrations and the same price.

"This volume is adapted to catch the attention and win the interest of every child. There is a picture on every page of the two hundred and forty which make up the handsome quarto."
CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.

LIFE OF CHRIST IN PICTURE AND STORY. Quarto. 269 pp. 190 illustrations. $1 50; gilt edges, $2.

The same book in German, with the same illustrations and the same price.

IN THE PINE WOODS. By Rev. T. L. Baily. 12mo. $1 25.

"This is a beautiful story, fresh and interesting from first to last."—CHRISTIAN ORACLE.

AN ELEGANT WALL ROLL.

THE GOSPEL IN PICTURE AND TEXT.

"A more helpful, interesting, and stimulating book than this is rarely to be found."
BAPTIST S. S. TEACHER.

"Dr. Burrell has a happy faculty of getting at the central truth of a passage and then stating it tersely and pointedly."—CHICAGO STANDARD.

"THE MORNING COMETH." A new volume of sermons, by Dr. Burrell. Uniform with "The Gospel of Gladness," and the same price.

CLEWS TO HOLY WRIT; or a Chronological Scripture Cycle. By M. L. Petrie, B. A. 12mo.

A scheme for studying the whole Bible in its historical order.

THE CHEQUE BOOK OF THE BANK OF FAITH: Being Precious Promises arranged for daily use with brief experimental comments. By C. H. Spurgeon. 12mo. $1 50.

"His writiugs consist of condensed wisdom and spicy sayings which will always be relished by young and old. He is never dull and commonplace in a book like this. His sharp sayings are full of pith. Many of them are epigrams containing mines of truth. His association as pastor and friend with many thousands during his long and wonderful ministry gave him rare facilities for writing such a helpful book as this."
CHRISTIAN AT WORK.

THE ESSEX LAD who became England's Greatest Preacher. The life of Charles Haddon Spurgeon. By J. Manton Smith. Profusely illustrated. 12mo. 75 cts.

"It was a happy thought which led Mr. Smith, the Evangelist and close friend and former student of Mr. Spurgeon's, to prepare this narrative. We have read six or seven lives of Mr. Spurgeon, but find none more entertaining or profitable than this. Mr. Smith has done his work well."—THE STANDARD OF CHICAGO.

HINTS AND HELPS.

ON THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSONS FOR 1893.

By Rev. David James Burrell. D. D., and Rev. Joseph Dunn Burrell. 12mo. $1 25.

Notices of the previous volumes:

"The thought is inspiring, the sentences are suggestive and often truly eloquent."
GOLDEN RULE.

ADAM'S DAUGHTERS. By Julia MacNair Wright. 4 illustrations. $1 50.

"Written with a depth of earnestness, a genuine attractiveness, and a wealth of sweet sisterliness which will commend itself to all readers."—INTERIOR.

ON A SNOW-BOUND TRAIN. By Julia MacNair Wright. 12mo. $1 25.

A train on the Pacific Railway is snowed in and makes but little progress for nearly a week. The passengers get restless and uneasy. Various attempts at interesting them are tried, but none succeed so well as story-telling. The narrative of the delays and disappointments is a very interesting one from which many practical lessons may be learned, and the stories themselves have all a point and a purpose that render them highly attractive.

MR. GROSVENOR'S DAUGHTER. A story of city life. By Julia MacNair Wright. 12mo. $1 50.

"So good a Sunday-school book has not appeared in many a long year. Mrs. Wright has written many interesting stories, every one with a useful purpose, but never one more interesting, never one with purpose half so practical as this. The book should be in every Sunday-school library."—N. Y. EVANGELIST.

MARY JONES AND HER BIBLE. Profusely illustrated. 50 cts.

"Not a long story, this, but one full of pathos, of a little girl in North Wales, a hundred years ago, who hoarded her pennies for six long years that she might save enough to buy a Bible, and then walked twenty-five miles in her bare feet to procure the treasure she had so long desired to own .... It would be well for every boy and girl in the church to read the story of Mary Jones."—TENNESSEE METHODIST.

FROM OLIVET TO PATMOS: The First Christian Century in Picture and Story. By Mrs. L. S. Houghton. 4to. Profusely illustrated.

This is a continuation of Mrs. Houghton's popular series of Bible books, of which "The Bible in Picture and Story" and "The Life of Christ in Picture and Story" have already been published. It gives the story of the apostles and the interesting history of the Christian Church in the first century, introducing an account of Epistles in the order of the history.

It forms a very entertaining narrative for either old or young, which is rendered still more attractive by numerous and excellent illustrations.

By the same author, and uniform.

THE BIBLE IN PICTTRE AND STORY. Quarto. 269 illustrations, many of them full-page. 240 pp. Cloth, $1 25; gilt extra, $1 75.

CHRISTIAN INTELLIGENCER.

LIFE OF CHRIST IN PICTURE AND STORY. Quarto. 269 pp. 190 illustrations. $1 50; gilt edges, $2.

The same book in German, with the same illustrations and the same price.

IN THE PINE WOODS. By Rev. T. L. Baily. 12mo. $1 25.

"This is a beautiful story, fresh and interesting from first to last."—CHRISTIAN ORACLE.

"Georg Ebers writes stories of ancient time with the conscientiousness of a true investigator. His tales are so carefully told that large portions of them might be clipped or quoted by editors of guide-books and authors of histories intended to be popular."—New York Herald.

"For many years Prof. Ebers has held the chair of Professor of the Egyptian Language and Archæology at the University of Leipsic. He is an enthusiast upon those subjects, and has made several prolonged visits to Egypt. . . . He believes that the Egyptians were real men such as we see around us, and that the only way to represent them is to seize upon types out of the daily life of modern men and place them in the past, surrounded by the circumstances of the age."—Boston Transcript.

A new volume in Herbert Spencer's System of Synthetic Philosophy.

THE PRINCIPLES OF ETHICS.

VOL. II.

By HERBERT SPENCER.

12mo. Cloth, $2.00.

This volume consists of three parts, the first of which, "Justice," has been previously published separately. The parts which the author has now completed are entitled respectively "Negative Beneficence" and "Positive Beneficence." (For convenience of those who already possess the first part, the other two are bound together in a separate volume; price, $1.25.)

In the complete "Principles of Ethics" the reader possesses one of the most able and at the same time lucid interpretations of modern philosophical thought. In familiar language and entertaining style, with no tendency toward abstruseness, the author deals with his subject in nearly one hundred brief chapters, discussing such topics as "Good and Bad Conduct," "Ways of Judging Conduct," "Conciliation," "The Confusion of Ethical Thought," "Revenge," "Justice," "Generosity," "Veracity," "Chastity," "Culture," "Amusements," "Marriage," "Parenthood," "Animal Ethics," "Human Justice," "The Right of Property," "The Rights of Women," "The Rights of Children," "The Nature of the State," "The Duties of the State," "Pecuniary Aid to Relatives and Friends," "Relief of the Poor," "Political Beneficence," etc.

A detailed list of chapter titles of all the volumes of the Synthetic Philosophy Series will be sent to any address on request.

"The volume [II] is of the highest importance, and we heartily congratulate the veteran philosopher upon the completion of a fabric which must ever remain a landmark in the history of human thought."—London Times.

"As into the details of astronomical investigation was carried the master conception of gravitation, so has Mr. Spencer carried into history, philosophy, and morals the illuminating and unifying idea of evolution. Whatever be the standpoint from which this system is viewed, it must be recognized that it has already produced a profound modification of ideas on the subject with which it deals."—London Literary World.

"The past decade has been an era of crude and rash speculation upon social and political problems. In America, no less than in England, we have need to listen to the voice of one who looks neither to the invention of a closet philosophy nor to the chance suggestion of the political empiricist, but to the eternal laws of Nature for wise counsel and enlightenment upon these vast issues. It is refreshing to turn to the wise and conservative counsels of Mr. Spencer."—Popular Science Monthly.

"Mr. Spencer's style is so lucid that to study political economy of him is rather a pleasure than a task."—Chicago Tribune.

Besides copious notes at the end of the volume, he has given many footnotes that can be read in a moment, and brief remarks placed in italics between the sections, to group the connected matters, and indicate the progress history. While carefully adapted to use as a text boo Bible classes and teachers, Harmony may also be READ ease and pleasure as a Life of Christ. It may be recomm to Y. M. C. Literary : Blunders.

A Chapter in the History of Human Error,

By HENRY B. WHEATLEY,

Author of "How to Form a Library," etc., etc. Cloth, uncut edges, $1.25.

The "History of Literary Blunders," is a wide bject, and necessarily covers many centuries and untries. Mr. Wheatley has here brought together interesting collection of instances of literary undering—gleaned from many fields and differ- t times. Thus, starting with "Blunders in eneral," he gives many instances of the long life hich a literary blunder enjoys. He then takes up e "Blunders of Authors" in particular, giving amples from the writings of well-known literary men and newspaper critics. "Amusing Blunders in Translation" are also illustrated. Numerous cases are given of "Bibliographical Blunders," of defects in classification" and other weaknesses in well-known works. "Lists of Errata" are made to yield a curious chapter of human fallibility; and a chapter on "Misprints" affords scope for some very diverting instances of humorous errors, as well as of some that have had too serious results to allow of their being put under that description, etc.

"This volume, which was at first intended to be a report of the Memorial Services held in the Metropolitan Tabernacle, while the mortal body of its late beloved pastor lay asleep in the Olive Wood, under the Palm Branches, has, during its preparation, been enlarged to make a place for a brief history of the last chapter in Mr. Spurgeon's faithful and fruitful earthly life. Beginning with his last appearance in his pulpit, the course of the final months, so fraught with interest, is traced through their varying events. A short account is given of the terrible illness, of the gracious recovery granted in answer to the continued prayers of God's people; of the journey to the Sunny South, and the happy months at Mentone; of the entrance of the Pastor into the presence of the King; and of the memorable days thereafter.

SERMON BIBLE.—This Series gives in convenient form the essence of the best homiletic literature of this generation. As yet, the preacher desirous of knowing the best that has been said on a text has had nothing to turn to but a very meagre and inadequate Homiletical Index. In this he is often referred to obsolete or second-rate works, while he misses references to the best sources. The new SERMON BIBLE will take account of the best and greatest preachers, and will be compiled from manuscript reports and fugitive periodical sources, as well as from books. Many of the best sermons preached by eminent men are never printed in book form. It will thus contain much that will be new to its readers.

Under every text will be given

1. Outlines of important sermons by eminent preachers existing only in manuscript or periodicals, and thus inaccessible.

In Chapters IX. and X. another outline is given in the language of the Catholic and evangelical confessions; and in Chapter XI. still another short but complete outline is given in the exact language of Scripture.

CHECKLEY—A NATURAL METHOD OF PHYSICAL TRAINING. By EDWIN CHECKLEY. Cloth, illustrated..... 1 50

CRAFTS—THE SABBATH FOR MAN. Sixth edition, revised and enlarged, 1892, by Rev. WILBUR F. CRAFTS. 12mo, cloth, 656 pages..... 1 50

This book as originally written passed through five editions, and has been awarded the first place as a practical cyclopædia of the Sabbath question by the press of Great Britain and Canada, as well as of the United States. The new census, the Old Testament revision, and especially the unprecedented activity of the reform movement since the book first appeared, have occasioned the insertion of many pages of new matter and the reshaping of much of the old.

"Mr. Crafts' volume is acknowledged to be the most useful authoritative book on its topic that has appeared for many years on either side of the Atlantic."—Joseph Cook.

"The book outranks all others on this vital theme."—Miss Frances E. Willard.

"Such a practical commentary upon the Sunday question is not to be found in any other manual, English or American."—Sunday School Times.

This translation is probably the closest reproduction of the original extant in any language. It retains the metre, and, with remarkable smoothness and aptness of language, gives the English of the great poem in the same number of lines, and almost in the same number of syllables, as the epic itself.

STRONG—THE NEW ERA. By Dr. JOSIAH STRONG, author of "Our Country." 400 pages. Library Edition, cloth, gilt top, $1.50; plain cloth, 75 cents; paper,..... 35

CONTENTS:—I. The Nineteenth Century one of Preparation. II. The Destiny of the Race. III. The Contribution made by the Three Great Races of Antiquity. IV. The Contribution made by the Anglo-Saxon. V. The Authoritative Teacher. VI. The Two Fundamental Laws of Christ. VII. Popular Discontent. VIII. The Problem of the Country. IX. The Problem of the City. X. The Separation of the Masses from the Church. XI. The Mission of the Church. XII. The Necessity of New Methods. XIII. Necessity of Personal Contact. XIV. Necessity of Co-operation. XV. The Two Great Principles Applied to the Two Great Problems. XVI. An Enthusiasm for Humanity.

The writer finds in history two governing principles which are its key—two lines of progress along which the race has moved. As these lines spring from man's constitution, they are permanent and indicate the direction of the world's future progress. In this light the writer interprets the great movements of the times, and points out what he believes history, reason, and revelation alike show to be the solution of the great problems of the age.

BOSTON, May 31, 1893.

DEAR DR. STRONG: I congratulate you on the timeliness, incisiveness, and brilliancy of your book on "The New Era." It is a worthy successor of "Our Country," and merits a circulation as broad as the field it discusses. The charm and power of both books are largely in the facts that their outlook is at once national and cosmopolitan; and that your watchword is, via lucis, via crucis.

Yours faithfully, JOSEPH COOK.

It contains 280 pages of quarto size, ruled and lettered, and in the hands of an industrious reader forms in the course of years a perfect index of his reading, as valuable as he may choose to make it complete.

"I have no hesitation in saying that the plan of the Index Rerum, by Rev. Dr. Todd, is better adapted to the object for which it is intended than any other with which I am acquainted."—Ex-President Mark Hopkins, Williams College, Mass.

TODD—THE STUDENT'S MANUAL. By JOHN TODD, D.D. 12mo, cloth..... 1 00

A work of real worth for students, and those who desire to become such in the best sense of the word. It is written with force, and that convincing quality which creates an inclination on the part of the reader to adopt as his own that fine body of rules and principles which it directly inculcates. As a formulative book for the college period of life, it is unequalled in our literature. It has received the universal approbation of those who are interested in the best education.

VON HOLST—THE POLITICAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. By DR. H. VON HOLST. Translated from the German by JOHN J. LAYLOR and ALFRED B. MASON, 6 vols. ready. Octavo, cloth. Vols. I., II., III., IV., V., and VII., each $3.50; Vols. VI. and VIII., each 2 50

"One of the most valuable contributions that has yet been made to our historical literature by any writer, either native or foreign."—Washington Chronicle.

WALTON—THE COMPLEAT ANGLER: or, THE CONTEMPLATIVE MAN'S RECREATION. By IZAAK WALTON. Being a Fac-Simile Reprint of the First Edition published in 1653. 16mo. White and gold binding in a set with Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress and Herbert's Temple. See FAC-SIMILE REPRINTS.

WOODBURY—TALKS WITH RALPH WALDO EMERSON. By CHARLES J. WOODBURY. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, with a hitherto unpublished portrait..... 1 25

The poet's opinions, freely and spontaneously expressed in conversations on current thought, literature, philosophy, and criticism, and his thoughts about contemporary writers and workers. The book is at once an epitome of his philosophy and a commentary upon the time and society in which he lived.

"No lover of Emerson can afford to overlook this book. He pervades it. The man himself is there."—New York Sun.

The School Bulletin

AND NEW YORK STATE EDUCATIONAL JOURNAL,

Established 1874. 16 Pages, 10x12. $1.00 a Year.

The SCHOOL BULLETIN is one of the five oldest educational journals in America, and has been under the same editor and proprietor from the beginning. It is not filled with "methods" and other spoon-food for young teachers who want their ideas ready-made, but appeals to superintendents, principals, and assistant-teachers who regard their work as a vocation, and who want to look upon it broadly and comprehensively.

In the feature of educational news it has never had a rival. Its chronicles of what has happened in the schools of New York during the past seventeen years are unmatched in educational literature, and it has taken note of whatever has happened in other States that involved general principles.

The following are among recent expressions of opinion that the BULLETIN and its editor have elicited.

'I get a multitude of educational journals, but I read only three of them. One of them is the SCHOOL BULLETIN."—Hon. JOHN HANCOCK, State Commissioner of Schools, Columbus, Ohio, February 20, 1890.

"We have a great number of exchanges, but there are only three educational journals that I regularly read through, and one of them is the SCHOOL BULLETIN. When I read one of Mr. Bardeen's editorials I say to myself 'There is a man who knows what he is talking about.'"—GEORGE P. BROWN, editor of The Public School Journal, February 20, 1890.

"If the reader wants two spicy and sensible essays by the keenest educational writer of the day, he will find in the above what he wants."—Intelligence, Chicago.

"In sending my renewal of subscription to the BULLETIN, I desire to express the great pleasure which I have enjoyed in reading some recent articles from your pen, especially the review of Miss Willard's book, and the description of the recent meeting of the National Association. They both show your remarkable power of analysis and felicity of expression."—Sup't JOHN H. CLARK, Flushing, N. Y. September 6, 1890.

"Permit me to add a word of commendation and appreciation for the articles which have recently appeared in the BULLETIN over your name. Their worth is all the more noticeable when compared with the trash that appears in so many of our educational papers."—GEORGE G. RYAN, principal high school, Leavenworth, Kansas, September 15, 1890.

"Am delighted with your article on 'Homely Teachers.' It is not only bright, but beams with wisdom. It is the wisest of the wise things you have ever written. Please send me a dozen copies of the BULLETIN. I want the Oneonta pupils to stand high when examined under your form."—JAMES M. MILNE, Ph. D., principal Oneonta Normal, and president of New York State Teachers' Ass'n, October 2, 1890.

THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.

Books of Reference.

The distinctive feature of a scholar's library is the large proportion of its books of reference. Education does not fill up a man with information: it teaches him where to go for information when he wants it, and gives him the habit of going for it when he wants it. This requires that he have at hand the books he will most frequently refer to. After the dictionary, among those most important to the teacher are the following:

1. The Cyclopædia of Education. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 562, $3.75.

This compares with other books on education as the dictionary compares with the spelling-book. The latter is useful, but the former is indispensable. In the latter you may find the word you want; in the former you are sure to. This is a day when teachers must be well informed. Here are some of the topics you may be asked questions about, or may want to inform yourself about: Pestalozzi, Comenius, Object Teaching, Ascham, Froebel, Thomas Arnold, The Kindergarten, Horace Mann, School Management, Industrial Education, School Economy, German Schools, School Law, Slojd, etc., etc. You may be sure you can find all of these topics and scores more like them in this book. It is the Pedagogical Unabridged Dictionary, and every energetic teacher must have it.

2. The Ready Reference Law Manual. By E. E. KNOTT. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 381, $2.00.

IT IS NOT MEANT FOR LAWYERS, but for those who are not lawyers. It gives clearly and simply the provisions of the law that concern every man, and of which it sometimes costs a man a good deal to be ignorant. Capitalists often make their sons regularly admitted lawyers, not with any view to practice, but that they may be able to protect the property they will inherit. Even the man of little property, or dependent on a salary from which he can not save much, should know the most important features of the law. The little needs protection even more than the much, for loss is more disastrous.

3. Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases. By PETER MARK ROGET. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 710, $2.00.

For acquiring an extensive vocabulary that will enable one to use just the right word in the right place, this work has no equal. For illustration of its usefulness, see Bardeen's Complete Rhetoric, pp. 401–403.

4. Verbal Pitfalls: a manual of 1500 words commonly Misused. By C. W. BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 223. 75 cts.

"In these days of slang and careless speech there is great use for a book of this kind, and teachers should have a copy lying on their desk in the school-room, ready for constant reference. The writer for the press, public speakers, and all people generally will find this little manual exceedingly valuable."—No. Carolina Teacher.

"I am very much pleased with it, and shall have it at once placed on our library list and made one of the requisites for the teacher's desk."—Supt. C. T. Meredith, Ventura Co., Cal.

C. W. BARDEEN, Publisher, Syracuse, N. Y.

How its Contemporaries have regarded it.

One of the most pointed and practical papers we receive. —Our School.

The educational journals, such as THE SCHOOL BULLETIN, the Public School Journal, and Intelligence, that represent not the irresponsible opinions of hysterical individuals, but the sincere convictions of the men and women who make these national meetings really valuable, advised the action that has been taken.—Educational Review, Dec., 1891.

Its monthly resumé of State work by counties is distinctively its own. * * Its long articles are modern in thought, cultured in style, and aggressive in force. It works to win. —Central School Journal, Iowa.

Mr. C. W. Bardeen, editor of THE SCHOOL BULLETIN, was wisely chosen to speak for and represent "the North-Atlantic States" at the meeting of the N. E. A. held at St. Paul. His matter and manner were in all respects admirable, as those who knew him expected they would be.—American Journal of Education.

Mr. Bardeen and Mr. Vaile are the two "funny men" of educational journalism. The one is Saladin with his Damascus blade, and the other is Richard the Lion-hearted with his broad sword that cuts in pieces iron bars. They both "get there," but by different routes.—Public School Journal, Oct., 1891.

THE SCHOOL BULLETIN for April celebrates its two hundredth number, which means sixteen and two-third years under one management. It is published by C. W. Bardeen, at Syracuse, N. Y., and is at the head of the journals of the kind.—Middletown Daily Press, April 9, 1891.

THE SCHOOL BULLETIN and New York State Educational Journal is among the 93 publications in New York State to which the American Newspaper Directory acceeds a circulation of more than 11,690 copies each issue.—Printers' Ink.

I myself know the quality of your journal from having tested it as a school-man for several years, and have been accustomed to regard it as the very best.—Robert Allyn, Editor Southern Illinois Teacher, June 13, 1893.

C. W. Bardeen returned a short time ago from Egypt. His letters in his paper, THE SCHOOL BULLETIN, on the Land of the Pharaohs, are the best we have read on that subject.—Western School Journal, June, 1893.

In like manner we notice some our contemporaries offering the "Revised Encylopædia Britannica" at ten cents a day. We give below a criticism of it from the trenchant pen of Mr. Bardeen, editor of the SCHOOL BULLETIN, who is a lover of books and a safe guide to follow. Read what he says, and beware of cheap reprints.—Educational Courant, May, 1893.

We have a number of exchanges, but there are only three educational journals that I regularly read through, and one of them is the SCHOOL BULLETIN. When I read one of Mr. Bardeen's editorials I say to myself, "There is a man who knows what he is talking about."—George P. Brown, editor of the Public School Journal, Feb., 1893.

If the reader wants two spicy and sensible essays by the keenest educational writer of the day, he will find in the above what he wants.—Intelligence, Chicago.

Of all our exchanges, THE SCHOOL BULLETIN has the spiciest, fullest and most interesting department of State News. —Iowa Normal Monthly.

The only trouble with the BULLETIN is that it comes but once a month. But when it does come, we always get something.—Educational Weekly, Chicago.

The SCHOOL BULLETIN published by C. W. Bardeen, in Syracuse, is the best publication for school teachers that we have ever seen. While engaged in teaching we subscribed for a number of periodicals devoted to school teaching, but always found them full of dry theory, and not one in ten practical; but the SCHOOL BULLETIN is another thing altogether, being full of live, spicy articles, which are practical and full of common sense.—Whitney's Point Reporter.

A lively journal full of practical thoughts and sprightly sayings. Its news from the different counties tends to give it a strong local claim, while its general discussions recommend it to the profession at large.—Sup't Edward Brooks, Philadelphia, in The Normal Monthly.

THE SCHOOL BULLETIN is one of the ablest and most outspoken papers that comes to this office.—Progressive Teacher, New Orleans, La.

A live and valuable monthly that has conquered a foremost position among the educational periodicals. The managing editor, Charles W. Bardeen, is a graduate of Yale College and an experienced teacher. He has positive opinions, and is not afraid to express them. THE SCHOOL BULLETIN costs only one dollar, and ought to be in the hands of every teacher in the State. Its county items are very full, and its book notices are written without fear or favor. Bad luck to the sham that comes to be exposed by him.—Utica Morning Herald.

Brother Bardeen is a live man and publishes a live paper. The BULLETIN is in no way a ring organ, and is backed by no educational association, but depends solely on merit to push itself forward in public favor. There is no paper on our exchange list that contains so much spicy reading as the BULLETIN.—Educational Voice, Pittsburgh.

Such are the views of a journal which stands well among the educators of the State, and which has an excellent reputation for ability and frankness in its treatment of all educational questions.—Elmira Advertiser.

The SCHOOL BULLETIN is the wisest and wittiest of the schoolman's papers, and if any teacher—man or woman, youth or maid—teaching anywhere in "York State" does not take it, he is a very unfortunate individual. We say nothing about reading it, for no one who fairly looks at it can fail to read it. It is worth nearly as much out of the State as in it.—Southern Ill. Teacher, July, 1893.

It is not too much to say that the ——, the ——, the ——, and THE SCHOOL BULLETIN take first rank among all the teachers' monthlies that come to our table.—The last mentioned journal is the spiciest of all, and reveals on every page the hard work and personal views of its editor. Its editorials are the most incisive of any of the four papers named. If the influence of teachers and their views is not felt wherever this journal is read, it will be no fault of its editor. He wages as merciless a warfare upon unworthy or unqualified members of the profession, as upon ignorant, unappreciative, or dishonest school authorities or patrons.—The True Educator.

What some Distinguished Men have said.

The teachers of a State are greatly influenced by the school journals which circulate among them. A well conducted paper of this class spreads much important information as to methods of government which have proved effective, or methods of teaching which promise to benefit the schools. It discusses questions which solitary teachers have no other means to secure a debate upon. It suggests by its editorials or communications, new means of meeting and managing old difficulties. And by its weekly or monthly issues, it brings teachers all over the State into communion like that which secured at institutes where they are seated together in one all and listen to instruction from one lecturer. Somewhat his service has been done for New York by the sprightly SCHOOL BULLETIN.—General John Eaton, Jr., in Report of nited States Commissioner of Education for 1876.

I am very glad to see your paper on the effect of college reparatory high schools upon the lower grades, printed in our SCHOOL BULLETIN. I earnestly request you to put it pamphlet form and would like two hundred (200) copies or the Bureau to distribute, and will pay for the same if ou will send them with bill. Your paper presents the subct in a new and strong light.—W. T. Harris, Commissioner f Education, Aug. 14, 1890.

The August BULLETIN which came yesterday has interest- l me so much that I want to express my opinion that it is ne very best issue of an educational newspaper that I have ver seen. Your review of the summer meetings, the dis- assionate account of the unfortunate trouble at Cort- nd, and Superintendent Marble's contribution, are all as ood as anything of the kind can be. I congratulate you ost cordially.—Prof. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia ollege, Aug. 21, 1891.

Ever since I became Superintendent of Public Instruction f the State New York I have been a careful reader of THE CHOOL BULLETIN. I consider it for the ordinary teacher the est school journal published. It expresses its views posi- ively, but after reading it for seven years I am prepared to ay that while I have sometimes doubted the expediency of ome of its utterances, I have never questioned the justice f any editorial it has published.—Sup't Andrew S. Draper, leveland, Ohio.

I get a multitude of educational journals, but I read only hree of them. One of them is the SCHOOL BULLETIN.—Hon. ohn Hancock, State Commissioner of Schools, Columbus, O., eb. 20, 1891.

The editorial part seems to me more incisive and sensible han that of any other journal with which I am acquainted, xcept the Nation.—W. M. Griswold, author Q. P. Indexes.

I cannot resist the desire to express to you my special ap- reciation of THE SCHOOL BULLETIN. Like most good things gets better with age. Your "special features" are in hemselves exceptionally helpful. Take as an example the st of rare books on Pedagogy and Pedagogical Standards -one of the best things you have done for the craft; the hart of United States history—a very satisfactory piece of ork; and the articles on Penmanship—which I have en- oyed reading, though one glimpse at my chirography is all hat is required to assure you that such work is "out of my ne." Because every hard and honest worker enjoys ap- reciation, you have a right to some pleasure from this hasty ote. I wish I might double it. May your own shadow ever grow less—and may your subscription list cast a longer hadow with each descending sun.—President James H. Can- eld, of the University of Nebraska.

How can I tell you in any new form of words how pleased am with the regular issues of the BULLETIN? I think I ave run through the whole gamut of commendations in my arious letters of the past. I can only pitch the same tune, nd say as I did two years ago, "I always read it as soon as comes to hand."—J. Dorman Steele, Ph. D., Elmira, N.Y.

What Subscribers in other States have said.

Spicy and sound too, I think.—Sup't John D. Philbrick, oston.

A complete thesaurus of news, facts, methods, and sugges- ions indispensable to teachers.—Sup't Ariel Parish, New laven, Ct.

I am much pleased with your paper, and desire to continue it from year to year. It is worth far more than the dollar which I enclose.—Sup't B. Mallon, Atlanta, Ga.

You are doing great service to the cause of education. I often hear of you, and always good.—Col. Homer B. Sprague, Berkeley, Cal.

I have taken several educational journals from a sense of duty; but the BULLETIN is the only one I have pretended to read systematically and thoroughly. I take it now—not from a sense of duty—but because I want it, and should take it no matter how far I might be from the State of New York or from the profession of teaching.—E. P. Jackson, sub-master, Boston Latin School.

Will you name for me the dozen best educational periodicals, chiefly American and all in English—as you estimate them? I wish to place about that many before our students, to be consulted especially by the senior class during the coming year. You may begin with the SCHOOL BULLETIN. It certainly should be in the list.—W. E. Wilson, principal State Normal School, Providence, R. I., Aug. 17, 1892.

I have not received the BULLETIN for some time. Perhaps my subscription has run out. If so, please renew and send bill; also send back numbers issued since. I want the BULLETIN I find it a good investment.— Geo. A. Stockwell, Providence, R. I., Aug. 10, 1889.

Enclosed find one dollar for the BULLETIN. It has more New York news than all the rest of them put together. Although I am a westerner, I do not cease to have the deepest interest in dear old New York State.—Prin. Levi Seeley, Ph.D., Ferry Hall Seminary, Lake Forest, Ill., Sept. 30, 1889.

I always know when to renew my subscription to the BULLETIN somewhat after the fashion by which the Dutchman told time by his clock—after it had stopped. Now my paper stopped with the July number. Enclosed please find check for $1.00 in payment for the year beginning with August, 1891. I have nearly or quite all the numbers bearing the title SCHOOL BULLETIN, and do not wish to lose any now.—Oliver P. Steves, supervisor New Jersey Normal School, Sept. 8, 1891.

It contains more information on those subjects that most concern the teacher than any other educational journal in the country.—Supt. C. H. Crowell, Grass Valley, Cal.

It is not a mummy, as too many educational journals are, but full of the driving blood of to-day.—Supt. H. L. Jones, Erie, Pa.

You deserve every particle of success, and would well fill a larger sphere, being what we in western parlance call a "rustler."—Principal W. H. Bristol, Yankton, Dak.

The article on "Book-Keeping an Abstract Science" in the BULLETIN seems to me one of the most effective in that line that I have ever seen, and I shall take pains to have it read to the commercial class in our high school.—Supt. Eugene Bouton, Ph. D., Bridgeport, Conn., April 4, 1891.

By the way, the article on "Old Maids" in your last is superb, especially the fifth and the seventh paragraphs. I shall salt it down.—Supt. LeRoy T. Weeks, Osborn, Ks., April 4, 1891.

Permit me to add a word of commendation and appreciation for the articles which have recently appeared in the BULLETIN over your name. Their worth is all the more noticeable when compared with the trash that appears in many of our educational papers.—Sup't George G. Ryan, New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 15, 1890.

The best teacher's organ I have ever seen—wide-awake, fearless, earnest, and sincere.—Sup't Charles Kelsey, Marquette, Mich.

Some of our Permanent Friends.

Send the BULLETIN to me as long as it is published, and when I owe you or money is due, notify me. The first dollar came from me, and if I live long enough the last may.—H. R. Sanford, institute conductor, Penn Yan, N. Y.

It gives me much pleasure to peruse your articles, whether written from your office in Syracuse, or during your peregrinations by land or sea. I have read the December BULLETIN from beginning to end, and have only praise to bestow on its contents. The BULLETIN improves with age.—Calvin Reed, Mt. Lebanon, N. Y. Dec. 23, 1890.

The BULLETIN has come to hand once more. Each number is worth more than the year's subscription to me. I do not remember when my subscription expires. Please inform me and I will renew.—Rev. J. K. Freeland, principal of Seminary, Wessington Springs, So. Dak., Jan. 31, 1891.

As a teacher of over twenty years' experience in the school-room, I cannot but feel truly greateful to you for the great amount of valuable information—"teaching me how to teach"—I have been able to gather from your many publications. Among these, to my mind, is the SCHOOL BULLETIN stands first in the State as an educational publication. From its very beginning it has been a zealous advocate of the teacher, giving more valuable information than any other school publication with which I am acquainted. The teachers in this commissioner district speak of it in the highest terms. Enclosed you will find $1.00 to renew my subscription.—C. Warren Hamilton, principal School No. 73, Brooklyn.

The BULLETIN is worth its price five times over to every teacher in the land.—Sup't L. B. Blakeman, Mechanicsville, N. Y.

Mark my subscription continuous. I have every number of the BULLETIN since its birth, and want every number until its death or mine.—Principal R. C. Schermerhorn, Knoxboro, N. Y.

I have not received the BULLETIN for April and May. Is my subscription short? I supposed that it was paid to the end of the year. If I am mistaken please send me the information, and I shall remit by return mail. Send too the missing numbers, April and May. The BULLETIN is indispensable.—Sup't N. N. Bull, Oneonta, N. Y., May 10, 1890.

I am not much given to the personal commendations of newspapers, but permit me to say that I enjoy the BULLETIN because of its having the courage of its convictions, and daring to deal out sledge-hammer blows at wrong and imposition wherever they are to be found. It is no respector of persons; the high and the low, alike, feel its stinging sarcasm whenever they have earned it.—B. Frank Taylor, Principal West Side School, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Nov. 24, 1890.

No educational journal is more welcome than your admirable paper.—Col. Homer B. Sprague, Berkley, Cal.

I have the —— and the ——, but I feel lost without the BULLETIN.—Sup't V. L. Davey, East Orange, N. J.

Please do not stop my BULLETIN. I have taken and preserved every number.—Sup't L. R. Hunt, Corning, N. Y.

Of course I want the BULLETIN as long as I can read. I value it very highly for its news and for its independence. —A. B. Watkins, Ph. D., late assistant secretary, Regents of the University, N. Y.

You are making the BULLETIN better with every successive issue, and you may make up your mind to set me down as a permanent subscriber.—Principal A. B. Davis, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Enclosed please find two dollars to renew my subscription to the BULLETIN to Sept. '91. Whenever I do not remit when the time has expired, please notify me, as I should be offended to lose an issue of the paper. For ten years it has been a regular visitor, and always an interesting and instructive one. Every topic is treated impartially, and with a characteristic independence, so that one feels sure he has the truth. A favorable criticism from its columns always decides my purchasing a book.—Principal F. A. Johnson, Southampton, N. Y., Dec. 19, 1890.

Wishing to make a present to a friend in Michigan, I send her the BULLETIN; for though many of your publications are of real value, and in fact almost indispensable to teachers, still I know of nothing which can be purchased for twice the money, that is of so much value to a teacher, as the SCHOOL BULLETIN.—Principal L. I. Mosier, Maple Valley, Otego County, N. Y.

Enclosed find amount of my subscription to your BULLETIN. I consider it to teachers a necessity.—Principal Fred H. Lane, Babylon, N. Y., Jan. 24, 1891.

I like the BULLETIN The editor does not seem to have half a dozen hobbies to ride, but makes a paper that is thoroughly practical. I always recommend it to my teachers' class.—P. M. Hull, principal Waverly Union School N. Y.

I received a copy of the BULLETIN to-day, and—well here is your one dollar. I think I could get along without the BULLETIN if you would keep it out of my sight, but if you keep sending me a specimen occasionally, the old love kindles, and out goes the dollar. I did not intend to let my time run out, but time flies so, it is a year before I know it and you have a way which I wish all papers would imitate—of stopping when the time is out.—Principal James Pitcher, Hartwick Seminary.

Enclosed find one dollar for renewal of my copy of the SCHOOL BULLETIN. I am a subscriber to several educational journals, and I can truly say that none "fill the bill" to my mind so completely as the BULLETIN.—Principal Henry W. Saxe, Bellvale, N. Y., Feb., 30, 1890.

Please find enclosed one dollar to renew my subscription to the SCHOOL BULLETIN, the best school paper published.—Prin. S. C. Kimm, Ives Seminary, Antwerp, N. Y., June 29, 1891.

I feel that I have received the value of a year's subscription from that single number.—Principal Benjamin Edson, No. 14, Brooklyn.

You are certainly to be congratulated on the success of the BULLETIN; not only for its growth, but for the character of the paper, which, excellent at the beginning, has steadily increased in favor and influence and literary quality.—President E. S. Frisbee, D.D., Wells College.

Having read every number since it was started in 1874 I cannot now live without it, and consequently inclose herewith one dollar.—Sup't L. C. Foster, Ithaca, N. Y., May 11, 1886.

How New Subscriptions come in.

I thank you very much for having sent me a copy of your excellent paper. I have read the number nearly through, and have concluded that if that is the kind of literature the SCHOOL BULLETIN furnishes its readers, I cannot afford not to be one of them. Indeed I do not understand how I have been able to live comfortably in this prosy world as long as I have, and not have my existence spiced with the monthly contents of this journal.—President A. B. Hervey, St. Lawrence University, Aug. 1, 1890.

The Cyclopedia of Education.

This largest and handsomest of our publications is an octavo volume of 562 pages, price $3.75. How indispensable it is to the teacher and to the school library may be judged from the following testimonials.

"It is admirable in every way. The book is worthy of a lower shelf in every teacher's library.—Educational News, June 8, 1889.

"This handsomely printed book is worth adding to the pedagogical shelf of any reference library."—The Critic, March 23, 1889.

"An elegant volume, which will find a place in the library of every teacher. The bibliography at the end of the book is the best educational check-list in the country."—R. Heber Holbrook, in Normal Exponent, May, '89.

"It is the most ambitious work of the kind yet published in English, and is, therefore, a very valuable volume for the teacher's library. Moreover, its value is increased greatly by the addition of a very extensive Bibliography of Pedagogy, both English and foreign."—Pop'r Educator, Mch. '89.

"This work occupies a distinct and peculiar field, and will be of continual value to the educator. The special aim of the editor, Mr. A. Fletcher, has been to give a clear but concise account of facts and questions belonging to educational topics. Here are a few titles which will give some idea of the scope of the work: Pestalozzi, Attendance, Analysis of Sentences, Chemistry, Technical Education, Precocity, Pedagogy, Hamiltonian Method, Hegel, Universal Language, Utilitarianism, University, Kindergarten. Under these, and many scores of other topics, there is given a mass of carefully combined information, much of which could not be found elsewhere."—Christian Union, Feb. 22, 1889.

"A handbook of ready reference on educational subjects of a high plane of scholarship has long been a desideratum in this country, and this work in a large measure supplies this want. It is a handbook of reference on all subjects of education—its history, theory, and practice. The list of contributors to the work embraces the leading educational writers of England, including such names as Oscar Browning, J. S. Curwen, Sir Philip Magnus, Arthur Sidgwick, and James Sully. These men are writers of the broadest scholarship, capable of thinking deeply on educational subjects, and what they have to say is entitled to the highest confidence of the educational world. The object dilgently kept in view by the writers of this work has been to make it useful to all who take an interest in educational questions, and especially to those engaged in teaching. With this purpose in view the object has been to present a practical view of educational facts and questions discussed. An exhaustive treatment of the great variety of subjects has not been aimed at, the end sought being to bring their pedagogic features into clear outline. Not the least useful part of the work is a 'Select and Systematic Bibliography of Pedagogy,' occupying some forty pages. The work makes a large octavo volume of 562 pages. The mechanical execution is unusually satisfactory."—Journal of Pedagogy, June, 1889.

History of Modern Education.

1. The History of Modern Education. An account of Educational Opinion and Practice from the Revival of Learning to the Present Decade. By SAMUEL G. WILLIAMS, Ph.D., Professor of the Science and Art of Teaching in Cornell University. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 395. $1.50.

This is altogether the fullest and most complete history of modern education now available, and should be examined at once by all who have classes in that subject. It is also the only adequate preparation for examinations, and a necessary part of every teacher's working library.

The titles of the chapters will give some idea of its comprehensiveness.

I. Preliminaries of modern education. II. The Renaissance, and some interesting phrases of education in the 16th century. III. Educational opinions of the 16th century. IV. Distinguished teachers of the 16th century, Melancthon, Sturm, Trotzendorf, Neander, Ascham, Mulcaster, the Jesuits. V. Some characteristics of education in the 17th century. VI. Principles of the educational reformers. VII. The 17th century reformers. VIII. Female education and Fenelon. IX. The Oratory of Jesus. Beginnings of American education. X. Characteristics of education in the 18th century. XI. Important educational treatises of the 18th century, Rollin, Rousseau, Kant. XII. Basedow and the Philanthropinic experiment. XIII. Pestalozzi and his work. XIV. General review of education in the 18th century. XV. Educational characteristics of the 19th century. Herbert Spencer, Froebel, manual training, disciplinary value of studies.

The Independent says: "Professor Williams made his first start on the hither side of the Renaissance, and is particularly strong in developing the mediæval theories and what the Reformers, particularly Melancthon, contributed to the subject. His remarks on Comenius do justice to an honest scholar and theologian whom until lately it has been too much the fashion to decry. The chapters on Locke and Kant are perhaps as good as any in the book, and when we remember those on Rousseau, Pestalozzi, and Spencer, to say this is high praise. The book is on the whole popular, a combination of biographic sketch with comparative criticism, and just enough theoretic discussion to supply philosophic value and interest. It represents very fairly the position of English writers like Fitch or Quick, or the French author, Compayré. Professor Williams' differences with Spencer are many and serious, and his strictures on the fundamental theories of Rousseau are searching and judicious. In treating the theories of Froebel, Pestalozzi, Basedow, and Rollin, he has von Raumer to lean on, and shows himself master of the subject in his own right."—August 4, 1892.

2. History of the Burgh Schools of Scotland, By JAMES GRANT. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 571. $3.00.

3. The History of the High School of Edinburgh. By WILLIAM STEVENS. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 610. $2.00.

4. The Rise and Progress of the New York School System. By A. E. SCHEPMOES. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 32. 35 cts.

OPINIONS OF WILLIAMS'S HISTORY

Prof. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER says in the Educational Review for December, 1892: "Prof. Williams's book is the latest, and for the American reader, the best. * * It is an interesting, accurate, and wise history of the period that it covers.

"One is struck with the excellent sense of proportion that pervades the work, as well as with the soundness of the author's judgments and his breadth of view. He is neither a partisan nor a sentimentalist. The capital sketch of Comenius—one of the best things in the book.—and the very discriminating and philosophical analysis of Rousseau's Emile may be cited as evidence of this. The young student will also derive no little help from Professor Williams's comments on the strength and the weakness of Herbert Spencer's essay on Education. In fact, the author's long teaching experience has stood him in good stead, and he has made a teacher's book.

"It need hardly be added that Professor Williams's History ought to displace all of the cheap compends now in use. It is also more serviceable, in this country at least, than the English translation of Compayré's History of Pedagogy. There is no question that this effort of Professor Williams 'to construct a narrative which should be truthful and perspicuous without being unduly bulky' has been successful. He has amply sustained his own reputation, and done the cause of education a substantial service."

Prof. HUGH O. BIRD, of the Department of Pedagogy in the College of William and Mary (State Male Normal College of Virginia), writes, Feb. 6, 1893: "Some time since, the very flattering review of your History of Modern Education in the Educational Review caused me to purchase the book. Suffice it to say that I was so much pleased with the spirit and scope of your work that I immediately adopted it as a text-book in my Intermediate class, and prescribed it for parallel reading in my Senior class. For it is just the book I have been looking for. Heretofore I have been forced to satisfy myself with Compayré's History, translated by my old professor, Dr. Payne, but I find your work will take its place. I have a class of twenty-two studying it, and find it very satisfactory."

It is the fullest, most complete, and most satisfactory work we have on the subject.—Educational Courant, Sept., 1892.

It presents the salient features, is interesting and valuable.—Sunday School Journal, March, 1893.

Believing it to be the best book of its kind, I shall use it in my classes.—Prof. W. M. Blair, Normal Department, Salem College, W. Va., Nov. 21, 1892.

This book is better adapted to our use than any other we have found.—Principal C. C. Rounds, New Hampshire State Normal School, Oct. 12, 1892.

The volume is one of decided value, and is a miniature cyclopædia of historical facts dating from the Renaissance.—New York World, Aug. 27, 1892.

Sensible in its views, and correct and clear in style, Prof. Williams's book is well worthy of a place in educational literature.—The Critic, Sept. 10, 1892.

A book worthy to take its place in the teacher's library alongside of Quick, Compayré, and Gill.—Western School Journal, Feb., 1893.

It is not too much to say that for all ordinary purposes Prof. Williams's book is in itself a much more valuable pedagogical library than could be formed with it omitted.—American Journal of Education, Sept., 1892.

Throughout the book the author shows good sense in his judgment of men and methods; and, what is no small merit in the present age, he is entirely free from hobbies.—Science, Aug. 26, 1892.

The title of this book can scarcely suggest the rich and varied interest of the materials which it includes. It sums up for us the story of educational methods and systems in all countries, from the middle ages down to the present time.—Review of Reviews, Oct., 1892.

I have received a copy of Williams's History of Modern Education, and having read three chapters I see it must be added to our library. Please send us two copies more.—Principal W. E. Wilson, R. I. State Normal School, Nov. 15, 1892.

The author's style is clear and readable, his criticisms without color, * * and the impression in our mind after perusal is that the author is not only one who knows, but one whose thoughts and conclusions are worthy of respect.—Popular Educator, Nov., 1892.

It is a wonderful book for conciseness—a veritable multum in parvo, and still the narrative style is so constantly maintained that it reads more like a story than an encyclopædia. It is both in one.—Principal O. D. Robinson, Albany High School, March 15, 1893.

The outlook over the subject is broad, the views in many instances fresh, and the interpretation penetrating. The work is especially valuable as being at once comprehensive and compact, covering the whole ground, with each movement or phase of progress given in its due proportion.—Evangelist, Oct. 20, 1892.

His method of treating the subject is eminently happy. The salient points of the history of education in that period are clearly indicated, and the ascending curve of progress is sketched through them. Dr. Williams's style is delightful. Every teacher will be at once pleased and instructed by a perusal of the book.—Public Opinion.

OPINIONS OF WILLIAMS'S HISTORY

He has shown that he is a natural historian, for his omissions are those speculations and discussions which are too often found in other histories of education, which add nothing to the value of the history, and only serve to puff out the matter. * * * With such histories as Quick's and Compayré's, Williams's will have an equal rank.—Education, Oct., 1892.

No teacher should long remain in ignorance of the growth of education and of the names and efforts of those who have through the years been shaping our system of schools. The author has been successful, we think, in selecting from the mass of matter that which is truly representative. The book is interesting in its substance and attractive in its makeup. We quote from it in another portion of the MODERATOR that our readers may form some idea of the style.—Mich. Moderator, Sept. 22, 1892.

The author has attempted to construct a clear, truthful, interesting narrative, within moderate compass. To make a wise selection from the vast amount of materials at his disposal, and to arrange it in the best form, was no easy matter. It required a broad knowledge and comprehensive grasp of the whole subject, together with sound judgment and good taste in selecting and arranging his materials. In our judgment the author has succeeded admirably in his undertaking. We commend the book most heartily.—Prof. S. J. Kirkwood, in The Post Graduate, Jan., 1893.

Dr. Williams has chosen to write the history of education in a style interesting alike to the general reader and to the teacher. Hastily running through the story of the early attempts in educational affairs he gives the greater part of his work to recounting what has taken place within this century. The author takes full cognizance of all the influences which have been exerted through the ages upon the systems of education, and with a clear comprehension of the present status of education demonstrates the results which have come from the focussing of different streams of light.—Teachers' World, Feb., 1893.

Dr. Williams has been throughout a close, discriminating student of educational systems, both in their present form, and in their vicissitudes during the past few centuries. As a result of these two forces, he now presents the students of education with an exceedingly valuable contribution towards the history of teaching and teachers. Dr. Williams has been very successful in securing a proper balance between the different men and movements Few subjects give a better opportunity for the believers in this prophet or that to extol him as the one great leader. Just now it has been Comenius, while Pestalozzi, Frœbel, and Rousseau have never lacked over-ardent friends. All of these receive fair treatment in these lectures: treatment which may not entirely meet the ideas of this student or that, yet which always ensures a clear understanding of the man and his work, and the opportunity for honest, well-founded personal opinions. It is a book which must be on the shelves of every student of education.—New England Journal of Ed'n. Oct. 20. 1892.

Biographies of Great Teachers.

1. John Amos Comenius, Bishop of the Moravians; his Life and Educational Works. By S. S. LAURIE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 229, $1.00.

The recent wide celebration of the 300th anniversary of the birthday of this greatest of educational reformers makeshis biography indispensable. We have also reprinted his famous text-book, the Orbis Pictus, with 151 illustrations, price $3.00.

2. A Biographical Memoir of Samuel Hartlib, with Bibliographical Notices of works published by him. By H. DIRCKS. Cloth, 12mo, pp.124, $2.00.

It was this Hartlib to whom Milton addressed his "Small Tractate of Education," and who brought Comenius to England. He was foremost in educational movements of the time, and this rare volume, of which we purchased the remainder of the edition, is of great value.

3. A Memoir of Roger Ascham, by SAMUEL JOHNSON, LL.D.; and Selections from the Life of Thomas Arnold, by Dean STANLEY. Edited, with Introductions and Notes by JAMES S. CARLISLE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 252, $1.

Besides the biography of Ascham in full this volume contains selections from "The Schoolmaster," with fac-simile of the ancient title-page. We also publish Ascham's Complete Works in four handsome volumes at $5.00. From Stanley's "Life of Arnold" those chapters have been taken which refer to his work as a teacher, and are published without change. Thus the book gives in small compass and at a low price all that is most important in the lives of these two great teachers.

4. An Old Educational Reformer. Dr. Andrew Bell. By J. M. D. MEIKLEJOHN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 182, $1.00.

Dr. Bell was the founder of the Monitorial System that swept over England and America in the early part of this century, and was at that time the most famous teacher in the world. Prof. Meiklejohn has made his biography as entertaining as it is important in the history of education.

5. Pestalozzi: his Aim and work. By Baron DE GUIMPS. Translated by MARGARET CUTHBERTSON CROMBIE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 336, $1.50.

"A teacher knowing nothing of Pestalozzi would be like the lawyer that has never heard of Blackstone. We commend this book strongly as specially adapted to younger students of pedagogy."—Ohio Ed'l Monthly, June, 1889.

6. Autobiography of Friederich Froebel. Translated and annotated by EMILIE MICHAELIS and H. KEATLEY MOORE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 183, $1.50.

"He writes so simply and confidentially that no one can fail to understand everything in this new translation. It would be of great benefit to American youth for fathers and mothers to read this book for themselves, instead of leaving it entirely to professional teachers."—New York Herald.

7. Essays on Educational Reformers. By R. H. QUICK. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 331, $1.50.

Its vivacious style makes it the most interesting of educational histories. We publish separately at 15 cts. each these chapters: I. The Jesuits, II. Comenius, III. Locke, IV. Rousseau, V. Basedow, VI. Jacotot, VII. Pestalozzi.

—THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.—

John Amos Comenius.

1. John Amos Comenius, Bishop of the Moravians, his Life and Educational Works. By S. S. LAURIE. Reading Circle Edition. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 272. $1.00.

This edition differs from those hitherto published (1) in being indexed by head-lines, (2) in the insertion of five portraits, and (3) in the addition of a bibliography, with fifteen photographic reproductions of pages from early editions of his works. The core of the book is the account of The Great Didactic, pages 73-153, the best treatise on Method ever published, at once broad, sound, suggestive, and practically helpful. As a contribution both to the history of education and to its theories this book occupies a unique place, and is indispensable in even a small library of teachers' books.

2. The Orbis Pictus of John Amos Comenius. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 232. $3.00.

This beautiful volume is a reprint of the English edition of 1727, but with reproduction of the 151 copper-plate illustrations of the original edition of 1658. A copy of the rare original commands a hundred dollars, and this reprint must be considered a most important contribution to pedagogical literature. The Orbis Pictus was not only the first book of object lessons, but the first text-book in general use, and indeed, as the Encyclopædia Britannica states, "the first children's picture-book."

The book is a beautiful piece of work, and in every way superior to most of the fac-similes we have so far been presented with.—N. Y. World.

We welcome this resurrection of the Orbis Pictus, which has lain too long in suspended animation. The master-piece of Comenius, the prince of European educators of the 17th century, was the greatest boon conferred on the little ones in primary schools.—Nation.

The old wood illustrations are reproduced with absolute fidelity by a photographic process, and as the text follows closely letter by letter the old text, the book is substantially a copy of the rare original.—Literary World.

3. The Place of Comenius in the History of Education. By NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER. Paper, 16mo, pp. 20. 15 cts.

4. The Text-Books of Comenius. By WM. H. MAXWELL. Paper, 8vo, pp. 24. 29 Illustrations. 25 cts.

Everyone who feels that he cannot afford that beautiful volume, the Orbis Pictus, should invest a quarter in this, and find out what Comenius did.—Educational Courant.

C. W. BARDEEN, Publisher, Syracuse, N. Y.

John Henry Pestalozzi.

1. Pestalozzi; his Aim and Work. By BARON DE GUIMPS. Translated by Margaret Cuthbertson Crombie. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 336. $1.50.

Among the best books that could be added to the teacher's library.—The Chautauquan, Oct., 1889.

It is sufficient to say that the book affords the fullest material for a knowledge of the life of the great educational reformer.—Literary World, June 22, 1889.

The most satisfactory biography of Pestalozzi accessible to English readers.—Wisconsin Journal of Education, Aug., 1889.

There is not a teacher anywhere who cannot learn something by the perusal of this work.—Science, June 7, 1889.

The work is a timely reminder how far we have strayed in following the deity of "examination", which should have been kept in its place as the handmaid of education.—The Schoolmaster, London, Feb. 16, 1889.

2. Pestalozzi and Pestalozzianism. By R. H. Quick. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. 15 cts.

3. Lessons in Numbers, as given in a Pestalozzian School, Cheam, Surrey, The Master's Manual. By C. REINER. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 224. $1.50.

4. Lessons in Form, or, an Introduction to Geometry as given in a Pestalozzian School, Cheam, Surrey. By C. REINER. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 215. $1.50.

Both 3 and 4 in one volume, $2.00.

These works were prepared in 1835 under the supervision of Dr. C. Mayo in the first English Pestalozzian school, and have particular value as representing directly the educational methods of the great reformer.

5. Object Lessons; or Words and Things. By T. G. ROOPER. Leatherette, 16mo, pp, 56. 50 cts.

This little work is at once philosophical and practical. It gives the basis on which the theory of object-teaching rests, adds hints as to how it may be made useful, and then gives a lesson on The Duck, which for interest and suggestiveness has nowhere been equalled. It partakes of the true spirit of Pestalozzi.

6. The Pestalozzian Series of Arithmetics, Based upon Pestalozzi's method of teaching Elementary Number. By JAMES H. HOOSE. Boards, 16mo, First Year, Pupil's Edition, pp. 156, 35 cts. Teacher's Edition, containing the former, with additional matter, pp. 217. 50 cts. Second Year, Pupil's Edition, 50 cts.

In many schools this system is considered the only true method.

Friedrich Froebel.

1. Autobiography of Friedrich Froebel. Translated and annotated by EMILY MICHAELIS and H. KEATLY MOORE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 183. $1.50.

Useful and interesting * * * among the best that could be added to the teacher's library.—The Chautauquan, Oct., 1889.

There is no better introduction to the Kindergarten.—Wisconsin Journal of Education, Sept., 1889.

2. Child and Child-Nature. Contributions to the understanding of Froebel's Educational Theories. By the Baroness MARENHOLTZ VON BUELOW. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 207. $1.50.

It is a fit companion to the Autobiography and the two are published in the same style—a capital idea—and a royal pair of volumes they make.—Educational Courant, Oct., 1889.

Its design is to illustrate the theory and philosopy of Froebel's system. It does this so clearly and pleasingly as to give no excuse for criticism. * * * * The volume is one profitable for every mother, as well as every teacher of children.—Chicago Intervocean, Sept. 14, 1889.

3. The First Three Years of Childhood. By B. PEREZ, with an Introduction by Prof. Sully. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 294. $1.50.

The eminent English psychologist, Prof. Sully, says that Perez combines in a very happy and unusual way the different qualifications of a good observer of children, and that he has given us the fullest account yet published of the facts of child-life.—Journal of Pedagogy, April, 1889.

4. The Kindergarten System. Principles of Froebel's System, and their bearing on the Education of Women. Also remarks on the Higher Education of Women. By EMILY SHIRREFF. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 200. $1.00.

The Five Great English Books.

The recognition of Teaching as a Science was much earlier in England than in this country, and the five books which are there recognized as standards, have probably no equals in soundness and scope. Hence they are usually the first books adopted by Reading Circles, and are indispensable to the library of an intelligent teacher. These are:

1. Essays on Educational Reformers. By ROBERT HENRY QUICK. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 330. Price $1.50.

This is altogether the best History of Education. "With the suggestion that study should be made interesting," writes Principal Morgan, of the Rhode Island State Normal School, "we most heartily agree. How this may be done, the attentive reader will be helped in learning by the study of this admirable book."

2. The First Three Years of Childhood. By B. PEREZ. With an introduction by Prof. JAMES SULLY. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 294. Price $1.50.

This is incomparably the best psychology for primary teachers, and forms the proper Basis for pedagogical knowledge. The Journal of Pedagogy says (April, 1889): "Some of the greatest questions relating to primary education can only be solved by an accurate observation and correct interpretation of the infant mind, and as the author of this volume combines the proper qualifications for the work with ample opportunity, his observations and deductions are entitled to the highest confidence."

3. Lectures on the Science and Art of Education. By JOSEPH PAYNE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 384. Price, $1.00.

The student is now ready to take up the Science of Education, which is nowhere else so brilliantly and effectively presented. The lectures are singularly fascinating, and the full analysis and indexes in this edition make it easy to collate and compare all that the author has uttered upon any topic suggested.

4. The Philosophy of Education, or the Principles and Practice of Teaching. By THOMAS TATE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 440. Price $1.50.

This gives the application of the Science to the Art of Teaching, and is without a rival in its clear presentation and abundant illustrations. The author is not content with giving directions. He shows by specimens of class-work just what may be done and should be done.

5. Introductory Text-Book to School Education, Method and School Management. By JOHN GILL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 276. Price $1.00.

This supplements the work of all the rest by practical directions as to School Management. Of the five this has had a sale equal to that of all the rest combined. The teacher's greatest difficulty, his surest discomfiture if he fails, is in the discipline and management of his school. That this manual has proved of inestimable help is proved by the fact that the present English edition is the 44th thousand printed.

Books for Young Teachers.

1. Common School Law for Common School Teachers. A digest of the provisions of statute and common law as to the Relations of the Teacher to the Pupil, the Parent, and the District. With 500 references to legal decisions in 28 different States. 16th edition, wholly re-written, with references to the Code of 1888. By C. W. BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 166. Price 75 cts.

The reason why the teacher should make this first purchase is that without a knowledge of his duties and his rights under the law he may fail either in securing a school, in managing it, or in drawing the pay for his services. The statute provisions are remarkable simple and uniform. The decisions of the Courts, except upon two points, here fully discussed, follow certain defined precedents. An hour to each of the eleven chapters of this little book will make the teacher master of any legal difficulties that may arise, while ignorance of it puts him at the mercy of a rebellious pupil, an exacting parent, or a dishonest trustee.

2. Hand Book for Young Teachers. By H. B. BUCKHAM, late principal of the State Normal School at Buffalo. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 152. Price 75 cts.

It anticipates all the difficulties likely to be encountered, and gives the beginner the counsel of an older friend.

3. The School Room Guide, embodying the instruction given by the author at Teachers' Institutes in New York and others States, and especially intended to asssist Public School Teachers in the Practical Work of the School-Room. By E. V. DEGRAFF. Seventieth edition, with many additions and corrections. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 350. Price $1.50.

As distinguished from others of the modern standards, this is a book of Methods instead of theories. It tells the teacher just what to do and how to do it; and it has proved more practically helpful in the school-room than any other book ever issued.

4. A Primer of School Management. Manilla, 16mo, pp. 45. 25 cts.

This is an extract from the above book, and may be purchased by those who do not feel at present able to buy the entire work.

5. A Quiz-Book on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. By A. P. SOUTHWICK, author of the "Dime Question Books." 12mo, pp. 220. $1.00.

This is one of the six books recommended by the State Department for study in preparation for State Certificates. The others are Hoose's Methods ($1.00), Hughes's Mistakes (50 cts.), Fitch's Lectures ($1.25), Page's Theory and Practice ($1.25), and Swett's Methods ($1.25). We will send the six post-paid for $5.00.

6. Mistakes in Teaching. By JAMES L. HUGHES. American edition, with contents and index. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 135. Price 50 cts.

More than 15,000 have been used in the county institutes of Iowa, and elsewhere superintendents often choose this book for their less thoughtful teachers, assured that its pungent style and chatty treatment will arrest attention and produce good results.

7. How to Secure and Retain Attention. By JAMES L. HUGHES. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 97. Price 50 cts.

This touches attractively and helpfully upon the first serious difficulty the teacher encounters. No young teacher should neglect these hints.

8. Primary Helps. A Kindergarten Manual for Public School Teachers. By W. N. HAILMANN. 8vo, boards, pp. 58, with 15 full-page plates. 75 cts.

9. Dime Question Book, No. 4, Theory and Practice of Teaching. By A. P. SOUTHWICK. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. Price 10 cts.

Psychology made Practical.

The word "psychology" has been so much misused, and has been attached to so many catch-penny treatises written only to sell, that some educators avoid it altogether, as they would "nice" and "genial" and "genteel"—good words that have fallen into bad company. But all sound pedagogy is based upon psychology, and the following books may be recommended as scientifically sound, as well as unpretentious and attractive in manner.

1. Apperception, or "A Pot of Green Feathers. By T. G. Rooper. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 52. Price 50 cts.

This work is published at the suggestion of W. T. Harris, LL.D., Commissioner of Education, who said of it at the recent Pedagogical Conference, at the Johns Hopkins University:

"The idea of 'apperception' is the most important fruit thus far developed by the study of the psychology of pedagogics. R. H. Quick, the eminent English authority refers in the highest terms to a short monograph on pedagogics which he had recently discovered, entitled A Pot of Green Feathers."

The book is a charming one, and simple enough to be understood by anybody.—Nicholas Murray Butler, Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy, Columbia College, May 5, 1891.

I appreciate the book very highly, and am perfectly willing that you should use my name in connection with it, as I heartily recommend it to every teacher. My students have really enjoyed it very much. I think I shall always have my class buy copies of the book.—Margaret K. Smith, Oswego Normal School, June 10, 1891.

Books on School Management.

1. Hand Book for Young Teachers. By H. B. BUCKHAM, formerly principal of the State Normal School at Buffalo. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 152. Price 75 cts.

This is emphatically a book for beginners, and it is a book without which no teacher should undertake a first term at school. The following commendations will show that it is a book the teacher cannot afford to do without.

If there be another book to compare with it in practical usefulness we have not seen it.—Public School Journal.

I thank you for a copy of Mr. Buckham's book. I am willing to vouch for it without examination, knowing the author as I do. We shall doubtless want a number of copies for our classes.—Principal E. A. Sheldon, Oswego.

It is a work of great value to the young and inexperienced teacher. It discusses the principles of the teacher's art in a manner which is at once simple and practical, without attempting to give a metaphysical discussion of them. I am sincerely glad Professor Buckham has undertaken this work, and I feel sure it will be appreciated by teachers throughout the country.—President W. J. Milne, New York State Normal College.

Admirably adapted to direct and help young teachers in organizing and managing a school. It is full of plain, pointed, and practical suggestions. * * * For the use I have spoken of I do not know of its equal.—Principal F. B. Palmer, Fredonia Normal.

A model of condensation and hard sense, and a thoroughly trustworthy guide for the beginners in educational work.—Iowa Normal Monthly.

Buckham's Handbook for Young Teachers.

This is emphatically a book for beginners, and it is a book without which no teacher should undertake a first term at school. The following commendations will show that it is a book the teacher cannot afford to do without.

I thank you for a copy of Mr. Buckham's book. I am willing to vouch for it without examination, knowing the author as I do. We shall doubtless want a number of copies for our classes.—Principal E. A. Sheldon, Oswego

It is a work of great value to the young and inexperienced teacher. It discusses the principles of the teacher's art in a manner which is at once simple and practical, without attempting to give a metaphysical discussion of them. I am sincerely glad Professor Buckham has undertaken this work, and I feel sure it will be appreciated by teachers throughout the country.—President W. J. Milne, New York State Normal College.

Admirably adapted to direct and help young teachers in organizing and managing a school. It is full of plain, pointed, and practical suggestions. * * * For the use I have spoken of I do not know of its equal.—Principal F. B. Palmer, Fredonia Normal.

I have read it and then read it again. It is timely, and just such a book as Prof. Buckham alone can write.—A. B. Watkins, assistant secretary Regents of the University.

I sent you an order for 40 copies of Buckham's First Steps in Teaching. They are received and are well liked. I am using them in my institute-work.—Abbie Gifford, Garner, Ia.

If there be another book to compare with in practical usefulness we have not seen it.—Public School Journal.

A model of condensation and hard sense, and a thoroughly trustworthy guide for the beginners in educational work.—Iowa Normal Monthly.

The author truly says that "teaching is a fine art, which, like other fine arts, so depends on a multitude of details that the neglect of any one of them spoils the effect of the whole, and robs even genius of half its power." In the spirit of this axiomatic truth the author deals with the important little things which every teacher should know in order to manage and teach properly. * * It is a valuable little manual, and will be especially helpful to beginners in the profession.—N. E. Journal of Education.

It will be of priceless value to many a teacher. May all catch the author's earnest spirit.—N. Y. School Journal.

This little book, written as it is in a free and friendly manner, will be the means of steering many a young teacher around unseen and dangerous snags.—Deaf Mute Advocate.

Its chapters of suggestions on specific points make this little manual a priceless vade mecum for all inexperienced teachers.—No. Christian Advocate.

It is simple, it is practical, it is suggestive, it is wonderfully minute in detail. In short, it anticipates all the difficulties likely to be encountered, and gives the beginner the counsel of an older friend.—Utica Herald.

—THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.—

DeGraff's School-Room Guide.

The new edition of this well-known book is entirely re-written, introducing the methods in penmanship, drawing, etc., most approved at the present time. No other book ever published has helped so many teachers as this. There is not a county in America where its influence is not felt. Some books are recommended because it is creditable to own them; this is recommended by those who know it because it will help. Here are some testimonials.

I have known DeGraff's School-Room Guide for ten years, first as School Commissioner, where it was the book I recommended for my teachers, and recently as instructor of the Training Class in this city, where it is the text-book employed. * * * I have no hesitation in saying that if a teacher can have BUT ONE BOOK from which to obtain help in school work, that book should be DeGraff's School-Room Guide.—Principal G. A. Lewis, Syracuse, N. Y.

The almost unparallelled success of this volume, it having reached its 70th edition, is its all-sufficient recommendation. School-men and teachers in every county in the Union "know it like a book."—N. E. Journal of Education.

We do not know where else the earnest teacher can get so much of practical value within the same compass; hence if a teacher can have but one book to be a guide and an inspiration, let this be the book. It differs from the others in the fact that this is the volume sure to be consulted in a moment of perplexity, while others are read and then laid aside, perhaps forgotten * * * We like to commend a good book, and this is a good one; hence we want a thousand Courant readers to try it. We don't need to advise them to use it; they are sure to do that when once they have seen it.—Educational Courant.

A valuable book for all day-school teachers, as is shown by constant reprinting of it. Sunday-school teachers also may learn useful hints from its pages.—Sunday School Journal.

2. French Schools through American Eyes. By JAMES RUSSELL PARSONS, JR. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 130. Illustrated. $1.00.

In short this small volume is the most complete and satisfactory account of Prussian elementary education now accessible to American teachers, and ought to be carefully studied.—Wis. Jour. of Edu., June, 1891.

It is scant praise to say that it is the best account ever written of what Prussian schools are and what they are doing, and it is certain to be the authority for many years to come.—Educational Courant, May, 1891.

6. The Free School System of the United States. By FRANCIS ADAMS. 8vo, pp. 301. $3.75.

7. Roderick Hume; the Story of a New York Teacher. By C. W. BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 295. $1.25.

This describes graphically the schools of New York in 1874, including the management of union schools, academies, Regents' examinations, employment of teachers, election of boards of education, trickery of book agents, etc. While occasionally humorous, the story is after all a straightforward depiction of things just as they were in New York in 1874. The Nation, comparing it with Locke Amsden, says "The book is vivacious, and the author knows the ground he describes." The veteran A. J. Rickoff says, "I can certify that it is true to life." Erziehungs Blätter speaks of it thus: "It describes in quite a masterly way a few traits of the school system of the State of New York. Some scenes are drawn with wonderful truth from actual life, as e. g. the one in which a change of text-books is proposed. The author is certainly a shrewd psychologist."

8. A Day in my Life; or Every day Experiences at Eton. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 184. Price $1.00.

A capital description of just how boys really live in the great "public schools" of England.

Books on Methods of Teaching.

1. On the Province of Methods of Teaching. By J. H. HOOSE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 376. $1.00.

Col. Parker calls this "the best book for study ever written by an American." Commissioner Wm. T. Harris says: "I consider your position to be eminently sound, and your views everywhere thoughtful and suggestive of thought, and as such a work I hope to see it in the hands of all the teachers of our land." F. Louis Soldan says: "The author has given us a most valuable work, which will introduce the student to a deeper insight into the history of education."

2. The School Room Guide, embodying the instruction given by the author at Teachers' Institutes in New York and others States, and especially intended to asssist Public School Teachers in the Practical Work of the School-Room. By E. V. DEGRAFF. Seventieth edition, with many additions and corrections. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 350. Price $1.50.

As distinguished from others of the modern standards, this is a book of methods instead of theories. It tells the teacher just what to do and how to do it; and it has proved more practically helpful in the school-room than any other book ever issued.

3. Methods in Common Branches. A book for the Common School Teacher. By C. B. VAN WIE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 197. 75 cts.

This treats of Method in Education, and Methods in Arithmetic, Language, Geography, U. S. History, Physiology, Practical Talks, etc. It is recently published and very practical.

4. Development Helps. By C. B. VAN WIE. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 91. 50 cts.

This is divided into two parts: I. The Learner; II. The Lessons. It puts teaching on a psychological basis from the first.

5. Object Lessons, or Words and Things. By T. G. ROOPER, author of "A Pot of Green Feathers." Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 56. 50 cts.

This little work is at once philosophical and practical. It gives the basis on which the theory of object-teaching rests, adds hints as to how it may be made useful, and then gives a lesson on The Duck, which for interest and suggestiveness has nowhere been equalled.

6. The Limits of Oral Teaching. By JOHN W. DICKINSON. Paper, 16mo, pp. 24. 15 cts.

This has for years been regarded as the standard authority on this subject.

7. Mistakes in Teaching. By JAMES L. HUGHES. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 135. 50 cts.

8. How to Secure and Retain Attention. By JAMES L. HUGHES. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 98. 50 cts.

9. The Art of Securing Attention. By J. G. FITCH. Paper, 16mo, pp. 43. 15 cts.

10. The Art of Questioning. By J. G. FITCH. Paper, 16mo, pp. 36. 15 cts.

Cardboard Helps in Teaching.

1. 500 Every Day Business Problems in Arithmetic. 500 cards, 1⅛ x 3½ inches, 50 cts.

These problems are printed on slips of card-board, one problem to each slip, so that a single box will answer for an entire school. Answers are given in an accompanying Key for the teacher's use. Superintendents find these problems of great interest and practical value, when visiting schools.

2. 500 Questions in Civics. 250 cards, 1½ x 4 inches, 50 cts.

These questions are printed on slips of card board 1¼ x 4 inches, two questions on a card. The questions are not confined to the Constitution of the United States, but include many pertinent questions on important subjects of the day. These questions are designed for general or class use in High Grammar, and Rural Schools. A Key for the teacher is included.

3. Historical Game, "Our Country," for Home and School. 100 cards, 2¼ x 3⅜ inches, 50 cts.

These cards contain 500 questions and answers, and afford a most interesting as well as profitable game for home and school.

4. Historical Cards, with Topics, Questions, and References, on all important events. (a) General History, 200 cards, 3¼ x 5¼ inches, $1.00. (b) United States History, Part I, extending through the Revolutionary War, 92 cards, 50 cts.; (c) Part II, from the formation of the Constitution to the present time, 108 cards, 50 cts.; or (d) Complete, 200 cards, 3¼ x 5¼, $1.00.

On each card there is a topic, with subdivisions and questions. On the back of each card reference is made to all the leading histories used in the schools of the country. Thousands of References are cited. Space has been left on each card for additional questions and references. The cards may be used with any text-book in daily recitations and reviews. In addition to the many Histories cited, a large number of books are referred to under the head of "Interesting Reading." The references alone are worth ten times the cost of the cards. The cards are made of strong stock, and different colors are used for the several Historical Epochs.

5. Geographical Cards, with Topics and Questions, (a) Part I, Physical Geography and North America, 100 cards, 3¼ x 5¼ inches, 50 cts.; (b) Part II, The rest of the World, 100 cards, 50 cts., or, (c) Complete, 200 cards, $1.00.

These cards are intended to accompany any text-book in Geography. The topics and questions emphasize a necessity for thorough knowledge of commercial Relations, exports, imports, routes of travel, expense of transportation: in fact, the cards deal with the Essentials of Geography, omitting that which is of little or no importance. The topics are suggestive rather than exhaustive. ☞ A set of these Cards will save the teacher many needless hours of study and research, by preserving classified memoranda in compact form.

6. Geographical Game, "Our Country" for Home and School. 100 cards, 2¼ x 3⅜ inches, 50 cts.

Helps in Teaching Arithmetic.

1. First Steps Among Figures. A drill book in the Fundamental Rules of Arithmetic. By LEVI N. BEEBE. Cloth, 16mo, 3 editions. Pupils' Edition, pp. 140, 45 cts. Oral Edition, pp. 139, 50 cts. Teachers' Edition, including all in both the others, with additional parallel matter, Index, and Key, pp. 336, $1.00.

These books give the only practical exposition of the Grubé Method, now so generally admitted to produce the best results with beginners. It has been used twelve years in the primary schools of such cities as Norwich, Conn., and Auburn, N. Y.; by vote of the board of education a copy of the Teachers' Edition was placed upon every primary teachers' desk in Syracuse; and for many years every student in the Albany State Normal School was directed to purchase a copy to take with him for his subsequent use in teaching.

2. Intermediate Problems in Arithmetic for Junior Classes; containing more than 4000 problems in Fractions, Reduction, and Decimals. By EMMA A. WELCH. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 172. Price 75 cts. Key to Part II, pp. 30, 50 cts.

In Syracuse and many other large schools, this takes the place of the small arithmetics in common use, forming with any larger or "practical" arithmetic a complete two-book series. The results obtained are in every instance far above those reached by the ordinary text-book. For city and graded schools no other collection of problems will compare with these in practical value and satisfactory results.

2 The Pestalozzian Series of Arithmetics. Teachers' Manual and First-Year Text-Book for pupils in the first grade. Based upon Pestalozzi's method of teaching Elementary Number. By JAMES H. HOOSE. Boards, 16mo, 2 editions. Pupils' Edition, pp. 156, 35 cts. Teacher's Edition, containing the former, with additional matter, pp. 217, 50 cts.

This is a practical exposition of the Pestalozzian Method, and has met with great success not only in the Cortland Normal School, where it was first developed, but in many other leading schools, as at Gloversville, Babylon, etc. It is diametrically opposed to the Grubé Method, and good teachers should be familiar with both, that they may choose intelligently between them.

3. Lessons in Number, as given in a Pestalozzian School, Cheam Surrey. The Master's Manual By C. REINER. 16mo, pp. 224. $1.50.

This work was prepared in 1835 under the supervision of Dr. C Mayo in the first English Pestalozzian school, and has particular value as representing directly the educational methods of the great reformer.

The Pestalozzian Arithmetics.

1. Teachers' Manual and First-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Based upon Pestalozzi's method of teaching Elementary Number. By JAMES H. HOOSE, Ph.D. Boards, pp. 217, 50 cts.

2. First-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Boards, 16mo, pp. 135. 35 cts.

3. Second-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Boards, 16mo, pp. 236, 50 cts.

This is a practical exposition of the Pestalozzian Method, and has met with great success not only in the Cortland Normal School, where it was first developed, but in many other leading schools, as in Gloversville, Babylon, etc. It is diametrically opposed to the Grubé Method, and good teachers should be familiar with both, that they may choose intelligently between them.

The author states the principles of this system as follows:

"The Pestalozzian system of Number proceeds on the theory and practice of introducing to the pupil a minimum variety of objects, and of giving to him a maximum amount of practice upon a few forms. The forms are those which constitute mathematics; they are as general as mathematics are general; learned once, always useful.

"The system recognizes the difference between processes in arithmetic, and the reasoning required in so-called practical examples. The mastery of a process (addition, multiplication or subtraction) is a language, is an expertness, is a facility in procedure; it is acquired by practice, repetition; it is habit, which is power acting in a particular form. Practical examples introduce relations which are discovered by the logical aptitudes of mind. The child masters easily a form of operation, a process; this mastery gives the pupil ambition; this ambition to test in a greater degree his powers, constitutes his interest in his work; his interest stimulates his courage. The pupil is trained in this manner in his moral character. The very uniformities in the system are sources of strength to the child, the same as the uniformities of action in learning the keyboard of the piano are elements of mastery in learning to play the instrument."

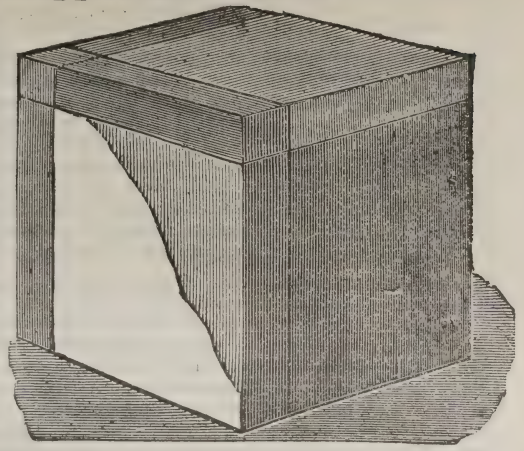
Useful Appliances in Arithmetic.



1. Cube Root Blocks, carried to three places. In box, $1.00.

This device for teaching cube root is now considered indispensable. Our blocks are unusually large measuring three inches when the cube is completed, and the additions are of alternate black walnut and maple.

2. A Fractional Apparatus. By W. W. Davis. A box of eight wooden balls, three and one-half inches in diameter, seven of which are sawn into 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, and 12 parts respectively, while the eighth is left a sphere. With Manual, price $4.00.

Many other expedients are resorted to, but they are all objectionable. Suppose a teacher takes a stick and breaks it in the middle, will the pupil perceive two halves of a stick or two sticks? In teaching fractions objectively, that should be taken for unity from which if a part is taken unity is destroyed. This is not the case with a stick or cube. Apples are objectionable for three reasons: first because they cannot always be obtained; second, because they are perishable; and third, because the attention of the pupil is diverted by a desire to know whether they are sweet or sour, etc. Nor can the teacher readily saw wooden balls into divisions even enough for the purpose designed, the charm of this method being the exact presentation to the pupil's eye of the fact illustrated.

3. Numeral Frame, with 100 balls, $1.25; with 144 balls, $1.50.

"Initiate children to arithmetic by means of the ball frame alone, thereby making their elementary instruction a simple and natural extension of their own daily observation," says Laurie, in his standard book on Primary Instruction (p. 112); and as he leaves the subject of arithmetic, he adds this note (p. 117), as if in fear he had not been sufficiently emphatic:

"The teaching of arithmetic should be begun earlier than is customary, and always with the ball frame."

The Word Method in Number.

These cards need only to be seen in order to be introduced. The at once, as the principle is already familiar and acceptable. numbers are all printed in type like that here shown. The importance of using script figures for this exercise cannot be overestimated.

The same figures are reversed upon the opposite side of the card so that as the teacher lifts the card he knows the sum of the figures on the other side.

As soon as the pupils commence reading, they should have lessons in number, and the first lesson should be in combining single figures. In this so much be given that the pupil when adding will learn practice should combination ½ as itself "13," not as "4 and 9 are to look upon the 13," just as we learn to look upon cat as an entire word —not as c-a-t, cat. Equal readiness should follow in subtraction, until combinations of two figures are as familiar as combinations of letters in words.

At first add familiar objects, passing afterwards to abstract numbers; write the simplest combinations on the blackboard, as they are on the cards, and write the answer in the proper place. Repeat this a few times that the method of writing numbers for addition may be learned. Then use the cards for drill, adding new cards from time to time, as new combinations are developed. Do not introduce new cards too rapidly.

At every exercise, review all cards previously used; answers should be given immediately on presenting the cards. Use the cards selected for a particular exercise miscellaneously, so that no answer can be guessed from the preceding. Pursue the same plan in subtraction and multiplication.

In subtraction when the smaller number is above, pupils will readily add ten to the minuend, and give the remainder in the usual manner.

Success will be certain if new combinations are introduced only after those already presented are thoroughly learned. Reviews should be constant.

From scores of testimonials received we select the following:

"Will you send me one-half dozen cases of Sanford's Number Cards? I have many inquiries for them. Some of our visitors have been lavish in their praise of our work with the cards. Two of these sets are given away to try the card work. This makes fourteen packages of the cards I have ordered. After a few days, when our class drills more, send Prof. Sanford down and we will show him more than he advertises."—B. G. Clapp, principal Union School, Fulton, N. Y., May 2, 1889. "During several years at the Potsdam Normal we used Sanford's Number Cards with great success in our primary and intermediate departments. We found them excellent for quick work. Please send me three sets for our primary and preparatory departments here. A teacher who has once used them cannot afford to be without them."—E. H. Cook, Ph.D., headmaster Rutgers College grammar school, Jan. 31, 1890. "I have frequently advised teachers to buy Sanford's Number Cards, because I know from my own experience that they are very valuable in aiding the teacher to fix in the pupils' memory the results of the elementary processes with numbers."—Wm. J. Milne, LL.D., Ph.D., president New York State Teachers' College, Feb. 5, 1890.

Helps in Higher Mathematics.

1. Algebra for Beginners. By O. S. MICHAEL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 120. 75 cts.

The study of algebra is usually made a single year's work succeeding arithmetic, which is supposed to have been completed before algebra is begun. As a consequence, abstract reasoning has often been replaced by rote-work according to certain rules of which beginners seldom appreciate the principles. This book is meant to take the place of arithmetic before the latter has been fully completed, for a portion of the year. The language has been made popular and free from technical phrases, the steps from concrete to abstract reasoning have been made easy, and much practical work is given for exercise. More than usual prominence has been given to the translation of arithmetic into algebraic language, and vice versa. If its methods are followed, the more abstract portions of arithmetic, like evolution, will prove of greater interest and value. All algebra teachers will find much in this book that is simplifying and helpful.

2. Practical Geometry Test Papers. By WM. SMITH. Package of 100, 8½ x 10. $1.00.

These are working problems and theorems, with only the figure and the directions placed before the pupil. This is the kind of work now given in most examinations, and a special drill in it will be found invaluable. The teacher who has retained the methods of twenty years ago does not realize how thoroughly modern teaching is committed to sight-work. At Harvard the examinations every year tend more and more to work the pupil has not before seen. "We want to know what you can do: not what you have done," is the word everywhere. In no study is this more marked than in geometry. The teacher who uses only the problems and theorems of the text-book will send out pupils who will be at a disadvantage when put beside those drilled on papers like these.

3. A Manual of Mensuration. By H. H. HUTTON. Boards, 16mo, pp. 168. 50 cts.

The treatment of mensuration in most series of arithmetics is so meagre as to leave many practical problems untouched. Even where much attention is given to the subject, a fuller treatment will be found of much importance. This manual covers every kind of problem likely to arise in school work, and will be found a useful part of the teacher's equipment.

4. Latitude and Longitude, and Longitude and Time. By J. A. BASSETT. Manilla, 16mo, pp 42. 25 cts.

This is a comprehensive discussion, with over 100 illustrative questions and problems. By its use what is usually one of the most hazy elements of a pupil's knowledge of physical geography may be made one of the clearest.

5. The International Date-Line, or Where does the Day Begin? By HENRY COLLINS. Paper, 16mo, pp. 15. 15 cts.

A conclusive treatment of a subject often debated.

1. Laboratory Manual of Experimental Physics. A brief course of Quantitative Physics, intended for Beginners. By ALBERT L. AREY. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 200. Price 75 cts.

This is a directly practical manual for elementary experimental work in physics. It gives full details for the construction of inexpensive apparatus, is abundantly illustrated, and gives on the right-hand pages blanks for entries by the pupil, usually in tabular form. The advantages of quantitative experiments are recognized, and this book is the first to make them possible in the ordinary high school. Immediately upon its appearance it was adopted for use in the Rochester Free Academy.

The few remarks about tobacco are, I think, truthful and just, neither too strong nor too mild. I could wish that our writers on alcohol would use a like moderation in their statements.—A. Hazlewood, M.D., Grand Rapids, Mich., member of the State Board of Health, July 31, 1884.

7. How to Teach Natural Science in the Public Schools. By W. T. HARRIS, LL.D., Commissioner of Education. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. Price 15 cts.

Helps in Foreign Languages.

1. On Memory, and the Rational Means of Improving it. With an Appendix containing the Application to the Study of Foreign Languages. By Dr. EDWARD PICK. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 193. Price $1.00.

Dr. Edward Pick, the famous English authority on psychology, and especially that branch of it called memory, has been invited to deliver at Harvard his course of lectures on "Memory: how to strengthen it without the aid of Mnemonics." Dr. Pick is one of the most learned of that great circle who have adorned Oxford, Cambridge and Eton for the last twenty years, and his works on both psychology and language have rendered his name known to the literary circles in this country. His chief works are the "Etymological Dictionary of the French Language," and on "Memory, and the Rational Means of Improving it." This latter work was an innovation, causing much discussion, as its prime object was to demolish the teaching of "Memoria Thechnica." * * * With Alexander Bain he holds that there is hope for the most forgetful of men, and that the most simple rules, building up natural processes, will work wonderful changes, and in a very brief period. * * * Perhaps the most unique and valuable aid offered by the system is in the acquirement of languages, Dr. Pick's system being radically different and infinitely shorter than any of the other methods. * * * In recognition of his services to education, Dr. Pick was in 1870 Knighted by the Emperor Francis Joseph, and the "Statistical Congress" eulogized his system and teaching in a recent report.—Boston Post.

2. Dr. Pick's Method applied to acquiring the French Language. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 113. Price $1.00.

Taking the pupil absolutely without knowledge of the language, this book carries him through the first book of Voltaire's Histoire de Charles XII. The system of connecting each new word with English words or with French words already learned makes the vocabulary a connected whole instead of a rope of sand. An index of all words referred to serves as a vocabulary. No teacher who uses Charles XII as a text book can afford to be without the notes here contained, even if he does not use the system.

3. Perfected Guide to the Spanish Language. By A. de VARONA. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 66. Price 35 cts.

Convenient for those who desire a slight acquaintance with the language without the cost or labor of consulting the larger text-books.

4. A Vocabulary of Cæsar's Gallic War, Book II. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 69. By GEORGE M. SMITH. Price 50 cts.

5. Conspiracy of the Helvetians. Five chapters of Cæsar's Gallic War. For use in First-Year Latin Classes, especially in Regents' Schools. Containing Special Vocabulary, Exercises in Latin Composition, Idioms, and Irregular Comparisons, with Suggestions for Study. By a High School Teacher. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 50. Price 35 cts.

The Regents' Syllabus has given definite direction to the teaching of most of the subjects taught in Regents' schools, and this little book is meant to be especially helpful in this direction.

Helps in Reading and Speaking.

1. The Sentence Method of Teaching Reading. By GEO. L. FARNHAM. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 50. Price 50 cts.

As the word method was a step above the alphabet method, so the sentence method is a step beyond the word method. "The unit of thought is the sentence," and if the child considers the words as units in learning to read, he must unlearn his habits of reading in order to read naturally. Mr. Farnham shows how much more easily children will learn to read, and how much better they will read, where this method is employed. The book is in general use all over the country—in Col. Parker's Cook County Normal School, among others. It is especially valuable for teacher's institutes.

2. A Practical Delsarte Primer. By MRS. ANNA RANDALL-DIEHL. 16mo, pp. 66, 50 cts.

This is a remarkable compact and forcible presentation of a system of elocution now so widely known and employed that no teacher of reading can afford to be ignorant of it. Mrs. Randall-Diehl is among the most eminent teachers in the land, and she has given here precisely the methods she herself employed. It contains a series of twelve charts which present the principles of the system so clearly that they cannot fail to be understood.

3. A Manual of Elocution. By JOHN SWETT. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 300. Price $1.50.

4. Memory Gems. By GEO. H. HOSS. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. Price 15 cts.

5. Memory Selections. By CHARLES NORTHEND. 24 manilla cards in a box. Three series, Primary, Intermediate, Advanced. Price of each, 25 cts.

6. The Table is Set. A Comedy for Schools, from the German by Bendix. By WELLAND HENDRICK. 16mo, pp. 30. Price 15 cts.

Nothing is in greater demand than little plays for school entertainments, with few characters and requiring no scenery, and yet thoroughly bright and entertaining. This play will be found to meet all requirements.

7. Calisthenics and Disciplinary Exercises. By E. V. DEGRAFF. Manilla, 16mo, pp, 39. 25 cts.

8. Home Exercise for Health and Cure. With 45 Illustrations. Translated from the German of D. G. R. SCHREBER, by CHARLES RUSSELL BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 91, 50 cts.

A glance over the table of contents of this little book will show how widely it differs from the usual gymnastic exercises prepared for schools, in which the main object is to provide uniform and graceful movements that will look well in concert. Such movements are here given, as selected in the table on page 87, but the purpose of the book reaches far beyond them. It is especially a treatise for individual use,—a book to be kept on the dressing-table and followed every morning and evening, like a physician's prescription. Indeed, that is just what the book is, and in the original the combinations in Part III. are called "prescriptions" (Vorschrifte).

In Germany 140,000 copies of the book had been sold up to 1889, and teachers are expected to be familiar with it, both for their own use and for that of their pupils. This translation, which purposely follows the original very closely, puts into the hands of American teachers the best treatise on bodily exercise now extant, and gives directions that will impart to many a strength and energy they had ceased to hope for.

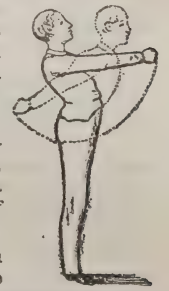
Home Exercise for Health and Cure.

Translated from the German of D. G. R. SCHREBER, M. D., by CHARLES RUSSELL BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 91, 45 Illustrations, 50 cts.

The teacher's work is confining, and leads to special physical defects. These are recognized in this manual, which provides "prescriptions," or combinations of exercises to meet certain needs. The exercises are for men and women alike, and there is not a teacher in America who would not profit by them.



See the strength of these recommendations.

An interesting manual which not only does not require a gymnasium, but even dispenses with Indian clubs, wands, and dumb-bells. The original treatise has had a wide circulation in Germany. It suggests the principles of the Delsarte system.—Atlantic Monthly, Feb., 1891.

In Germany 140,000 copies of this book have been sold, and American teachers would do well to make themselves familiar with a system of bodily exercise that is pronounced by competent authorities the best treatise on the subject extant.—Journal of Pedagogy, Oct., 1890.

The original of this book is almost as easy to find in German homes and school-rooms as the Bible. Its purpose is to give a system of physical exercise without any appliances, expensive or otherwise, so that men, women and children, whose habits are sedentary may be enabled by a few moments of effort each day to overcome the physical ailments which beset those who have forgotten that the human body is a complex and delicate bit of machinery never intended to accustom itself to neglect. It is a small book, and the exercises may seem childishly simple, but no one can follow them for half an hour without having a clearer head and better spirits, as well as a sense of bodily weariness which shows how shamefully the system has been neglected.—New York Herald, Oct. 21, 1890.

It is certainly a most practical little book, more than usually interesting on account of the exact physiological effects described as the object of each exercise.—The Educational Review, Oct., 1890.

I have carefully read the translation from the German of the beautiful and valuable little volume on Home Exercise. I regard it as one of the best contributions of this age in the line of physical education. It is simple, full of common sense, and peculiarly adapted for use in schools. Every man, woman, and child would be better off physically if they studied and carried into effect the methods made so plain in this unique little volume. I cannot commend it too highly.—C. H. McCormick, director of Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium, Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1890.

Of all the books on gymnastics we have ever seen, we pronounce this the best. The simplicity, the common-sense quality of the exercises, stamp it at once as a work of sterling value and of great worth. We would like to see a copy on the desk of every teacher in the country. It would improve the next generation about ten per cent.—Educational Courant, Oct. 1890.

Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 56. 25 cts. Each separate, paper, 6 cts.

These selections were officially prepared in the Regents' office, and published under the direction of Mr. James Russell Parsons, Jr. Besides their special purpose, they will be found admirable for use in classes.

2. Memory Selections from nearly 150 authors. By CHAS. NORTHEND. In three sets, Primary, Intermediate, and Advanced, each consisting of 36 cards printed on both sides, in neat box. Price of each box 25 cts.

The best apology I can make for my delay in answering your letter is to send you the enclosed check for 135 sets of Memory Selections. I shall probably call for an additional supply. I wish these selections could be used in every home and in every school-room throughout the land. They will surely accomplish much good, both intellectual and moral.—D. B. Hagar, principal State Normal School, Salem, Mass.

Your collection of Memory Selections came to-day, and I hasten to express my appreciation of the same. Nothing finer has ever came to my notice. Will send you an order in a few days. The cards are just the thing to have on one's library table. What pleasanter way is there to spend five or ten minutes, when one is obliged to wait that time, than with such a collection?—C. A. Holbrook, Lewis High School, Southington, Ct.

3. A Primer of Memory Gems, designed especially for Schools. By GEO. W. HOSS. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. 15 cts.

There has long been need of more philosophy in the arrangement of memory gems. We have here at a merely nominal price a classification of selections, so that a teacher can select discriminatingly that which he desires memorized.—New England Journal of Education.

4. Thoughts from Earnest Women. Arranged by the Women's Literary Club, Dunkirk, N. Y. Paper, 16mo, pp. 36. 15 cts.

Helps in Teaching Penmanship.

1. Wells's Improved Practical Methods of Penmanship. Chautauqua Series. Copy Books, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4. Manilla, 7x8½, pp. 24, per dozen, $1.20.

No. 1 presents a series of 24 oval exercises, combining in simple form all of the curve movements employed in writing—and may be used to advantage through two terms. It is designed to teach arm movement, pure and simple.

No. 2 contains a series of drills in large text hand, by means of which the straight line movement so essential to correct formation is thoroughly mastered; and introduces the standard capital letter movements systematically grouped and followed by drills on the letters themselves.

No. 3 is designed through a series of well arranged exercises to develop and apply the sliding or lateral movement in connection with the arm action. The movement acquired by this drill is the essential element in all business or current hand writing, giving both freedom and smoothness to the text. This number introduces the forms of all small letters and capitals, with a complete drill on the numerals.

No. 4 gives an attractive series of extended capital movement drills, together with useful combinations of the capital letters in connection with words. The special object of this number is to promote freedom and speed in execution; it also contains a review of all the letters.

In the Syracuse schools, where the method has been in use since 1879, numbers 1, 2 and 4 are each used two terms, and No. 3, four terms.

In a testimonial dated June 26, 1889, Sup't Blodgett and every one of the 20 principals of public schools in Syracuse unite in saying:

"This branch, which ten years ago was considered so difficult to handle and so generally barren of good results has become one of the most popular and helpful adjuncts of our school work.

"A fundamental principle of this system is in the substitution of the arm movements for those of the fingers for all purposes of writing, by means of which the youngest scholars may secure a freedom and strength in the character of their penmanship much in advance of anything hitherto shown.

"We take the term examination papers as the only true test of a scholar's advancement in penmanship, and as measured by this severe standard the results uniformly obtained are not only highly satisfactory, but are in many instances a revelation as to the possibilities in teaching business writing to children in the public schools.

"We are satisfied that this plan of teaching as introduced and carried on in our city schools here is entirely feasible, and that under like conditions equally good results may be obtained anywhere."

2. A Lesson on Arm Movement in Writing. By CHAS. R. WELLS. Paper, 8vo, pp. 32, illustrated, 25 cts.

This is an exposition of the principles and practice of the above system.

3. Penmanship in Public Schools. By J. L. BURRITT. 12mo, pp. 62, and chart. 60 cts.

4. The Writing Portfolio. By C. J. BROWN. Nos. 1-5, each 25 cts.

Helps in Teaching Language.

1. Graded Exercises in Language, by A. M. EDWARDS. Six numbers, each 5½ x 8½, 80 pages, with printed subjects and directions upon one side and ruled writing-paper for the exercises upon the other. Per sample set or per half-dozen of any number, 50 cts.

These exercises are carefully graded, and constitute a complete course for supplementary work in "Language" for all grammar grades. "Oral Lessons" precede each "Written Exercise." The preparation for the written work afforded by the oral exercises leads directly to a thorough knowledge of the subject. This induces clearness and accuracy of expression and neatness of penmanship. "Graded Exercises" can be used in connection with any "Language Book," and will be found a great assistance in teaching any system of penmanship.

2. Elementary English. Prepared with reference to the Regents' Examinations in the State of New York. Leatherette, pp. 67. 35 cts.

This follows directly the new syllabus of the Regents in English, giving all the words of which derivations are required, and forming the best primary preparation that has been offered. It has been officially adopted for use in Syracuse and many of the largest schools in the State. It is simple, direct, practical, an admirable introduction to English grammar.

3. Exercises in English Syntax. By A. G. BUGBEE. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 87. 35 cts.

This differs from other handbooks of sentences for class-drill in that it does not print wrong sentences to be corrected,—a practice now generally condemned, because incorrect forms should never be put before the child's eye,—but leaves blanks in the sentence to be filled by the pupil from a choice of expressions given, thus impressing in the most effective way the right usage and its reasons. It is of especial assistance in preparation for Regents' examinations, which always include much work of this kind.

4. Normal Language Lessons. By S. J. SORNBERGER. Boards, 16mo, pp. 81. 50 cts.

5. 3000 Grammar Questions, with Answers based on Brown's Grammar, with cross references to the grammars of Murray, Greene, Clark, Kerl, Quackenbos, Weld & Quackenbos, Hart, Fowler, Swinton, Reed & Kellogg, and Whitney. By HENRY KIDDLE, formerly Sup't of Schools, New York City, and editor of Brown's Grammars. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 200. $1.00.

These are the Regents' questions from the beginning to June, 1882, with answers by the man who was regarded as the best living authority. Those who wish to be certain on grammatical questions will do well to keep this book at hand. Its cross-references make it easy to adapt the answers to any system used.

6. Dime Question Book No. 14, Grammar. By ALBERT P. SOUTHWICK.

Other books in this useful series are No. 9, Rhetoric; No. 15, Orthography and Etymolgy; and No. 20, Reading and Punctuation; each 10 cts.

Helps toward Correct Speech.

1. Verbal Pitfalls: a manual of 1500 words commonly misused, including all those the use of which in any sense has been questioned by Dean Alvord, G. W. Moon, Fitzedward Hall, Archbishop Trench, Wm C. Hodgson, W. L. Blackley, G. F. Graham, Richard Grant White, M. Schele de Vere, Wm. Mathews, "Alfred Ayres," and many others. Arranged alphabetically, with 3000 references and quotations, and the ruling of the dictionaries. By C. W. BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 223. 75 cts.

Perhaps the happiest feature of the book is its interesting form. Some hundreds of anecdotes have been gathered to illustrate the various points made. These have the advantage not only of making the work entertaining, but of fixing the point in the mind as a mere precept could not do. The type indicates at a glance whether the use of a word is (1) indefensible, (2) defensible but objectionable, or (3) thoroughly authorized.

2. Orthoëpy Made Easy. A Royal Road to Correct Pronunciation. By M. W. HALL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 103. 75 cts.

Everyone remembers the queer shibboleths of culture in the paragraph beginning "A sacrilegious son of Belial," that has been the rounds of the newspapers. This book is made up of 38 such exercises, all of them ingenious and many of them amusing, each followed by a key to the difficult words. Bishop Vincent says: "I take great pleasure in testifying to the exceeding value of the little volume; 'Orthoëpy Made Easy.' The book is a sensible, practical text-book for the purpose intended. I congratulate you on having produced it, and I wish you success in its wide circulation."

3. Practical Phonics. A comprehensive study of Pronunciation, forming a complete guide in the study of elementary sounds of the English Language, and containing 3000 words of difficult pronunciation, with diacritical marks according to Webster's Dictionary. By E. V. DEGRAFF. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 108. 75 cts.

"The book before us is the latest, and in many respects the best, of the manuals prepared for this purpose. The directions for teaching elementary sounds are remarkably explicit and simple, and the diacritical marks are fuller than in any other book we know of, the obscure vowels being marked, as well as the accented ones. This manual is not like others of the kind, a simple reference book. It is meant for careful study and drill, and is especially adapted to class use."—New England Journal of Education.

4. Pocket Pronunciation Book, containing the 3,000 words of difficult pronunciation, with diacritical marks according to Webster's Dictionary. By E. V. DEGRAFF, Manilla, 16mo, pp. 47. 15 cts.

5. Studies in Articulation: a study and drill-book in the Alphabetic Elements of the English language. Fifth thousand. By J. H. HOOSE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 70. 50 cts.

"Dr. Hoose's 'Studies in Articulation' is the most useful manual of the kind that I know of. It should be a text-book in every Teacher's Institute." —A. J. Rickoff, formerly Sup't of Schools at Cleveland and at Yonkers.

Exercises in English Syntax.

By A. G. Bugbee. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 87. 35 cts.

This differs from other handbooks of sentences for class-drill, in that it does not print wrong sentences to be corrected—a practice now generally condemned because a wrong form should never be put before the child's eye—but leaves blanks in the sentence to be filled by the pupil from a choice of expressions given, thus in the most effective way calling attention to right usage and its reasons. Thus:

1. "His wealth and .... bid adieu to each other." Use him or he.
2. ".... art most in fault." Use thou or thee.
3. ... and .... were chosen." Use her or she, and he or him.
4. ".... do you think was there?" Use who or whom.

No book we have ever published has met a readier or more hearty reception. From the many good words that have come to us, we select the following:

"I am thoroughly pleased with Bugbee's Exercises in English Syntax. Having used for some years a ms. work of my own of similar character, I would be pleased to lay it aside for better and more convenient form. Please give me your introductory rates."—H. E. Chambers, principal No. 12, New Orleans, and editor of Progressive Teacher.

"It is not intended to take the place of a grammar but to become a valuable auxiliary to it. The value of the book is apparent at a glance."—Commonwealth, Boston.

"The advantages of this plan are so apparent that not a word of commendation need be spoken."—Carolina Teacher.

"A useful and sensible manual, and all the better for being free from ambitious novelties."—Independent.

"Nothing else so excellent in its way has come to our notice, and we think its use will do much to train children to correct habits of speech. It is based on good sound doctrine."—Educational Courant, Louisville, Ky.

"Teachers are well nigh as anxious for exercises in English syntax as they were before the crusade against teaching that subject. It would be difficult to desire the work essayed better done than in this monograph. It aids the teacher in all of the standard work of the class; it suggests scores of things that the teacher wonders why he has not tried for himself. America is to be congratulated upon having such an array of ingenious men in the school-room, and publishers like Mr. Bardeen, who knows how to find them and how to use them."—*N. E. Blakely's Parliamentary Rules.

This valuable little work contains a Chart which shows the relation of any Motion to every other Motion, and also answers at a glance 2,427 Questions in the practice of Parliamentary Law. It gives also Comments on the different Motions, with additional notes and explanations, the manner of stating certain Questions, and one or more forms for making the various Motions used in deliberative assemblies.

It gives more information, in smaller space, in more convenient form, and at a cheaper price, than any other manual issued. In fact, as U. S. Senator Stewart says, "It is the entire subject in a nutshell, and will save laborious research through volumes of parliamentary law, for which few have the leisure or the means at hand."

Teachers, Students, Professional Men, Politicians, Officials of all organizations, in fact Every Citizen should have a copy. It can be easily folded and carried in a pocket-book so as to be always at hand.

The arrangement is so perfect that any rule applying to any motion may be seen at a glance, and one can tell immediately whether or not any given motion is in order when another motion is pending. It thus gives instant information on any point arising, answering from 40 to 65 question in regard to to every motion, without the trouble of turning a leaf.

Thus it shows in regard to every kind of motion whether it can or cannot be:

(1) debated, (2) amended, (3) laid on the table, (4) postponed, (5) committed, (6) reconsidered, (7) renewed.

Also whether it requires: (8) to be seconded, (9) to be in writing, (10) previous notice, (11) a two-thirds vote.

Also whether it (12) can have the previous question applied, (13) does or does not open the main question, (14-55) yields to or takes precedence of each of the other 41 possible motions. It thus answers 55 questions with regard to each of the 42 motions, or 2,310 questions; to which are added 103 rules and notes, 8 definitions, and 6 orders of precedence of classes, making in all 2,427 questions answered, besides giving each motion and assigning it to its proper place.

From hundreds of testimonials we give the following:

"Will unquestionably be of great service to persons who desire to revive a knowledge of parliamentary law suddenly, for any important occasion."—Hon. Geo. F. Hoar, LL. D., U. S. Senator.

"Will be very convenient for persons who wish information on parliamentary law in the smallest possible compass."—Hon. Geo. F. Edmunds, U. S. Senator.

Some reasons why this method has been successful are: (1) the pupils learn by seeing and doing, (2) they learn in class as well as tell what they have learned, and (3) they all work all the time of recitation. A judicious selection from a mass of material is found to produce a much better result than to produce a mass and then make a selection. The teacher, relieved from the necessity of driving to get through, may have leisure to give special lessons on places brought into prominence by public interest, or to give composition work on the great cities or on some country of historic interest.

Prof. Freeman, of the Fredonia State Normal, says:

"Her books have long been used in my department of the Fredonia State Normal and Training School, and I know of nothing that could in any wise take their places with us. In other places where it has been tried it has met with abundant success."
